The Marines Are Looking for a Few Good Men Who Want To Lead!

If you're going to college and you're ready for leadership and responsibility, consider the following:

As a college freshman, sophomore or junior you can join a unique Marine Corps Officer program, The Platoon Leaders Class. Training is restricted to summer sessions. Eligible members can receive $100 a month during the school year, up to a maximum of $2700 during a four-year college career. The PLC also offers a few good men a chance to learn to fly free before they graduate. The Corps pays the entire cost of civilian flight instruction... worth about $800. PLC law students receive special consideration from the Corps because of their academic requirements. Active service begins only after law school. You can be commissioned a ground officer or an aviation officer the day you graduate from college. The earlier you join, the higher your pay upon commissioning.

Seniors and college graduates may attend the Officer Candidate Course and be commissioned within 12 weeks. The OCC program also provides you with the option of becoming an aviation or ground officer.

If you think you've got it, mail the attached postage-paid card, or check with the Marine officer who visits your campus. But remember, we make no promises except one; you'll be a Marine, one of the few and one of the finest.
