

The only
living girl
in NYC

A black and white advertisement for Ballantine's Scotch Whisky. The central figure is Marlene Dietrich, looking directly at the camera with a neutral expression. She is positioned between two bottles of whisky: a large bottle of Ballantine's in the foreground and a smaller bottle of Seagram's V.O. in the background. The Ballantine's bottle has a prominent 'V' logo. The background is dark and moody, suggesting a sophisticated atmosphere. The overall composition is a classic magazine spread.

Photo by Bill Frakes
and Bill Consolo

