

Morley terms POWs 'political prisoners'

One of George McGovern's campaign workers, the wife of an Air Force captain listed as missing in action (MIA), said Tuesday that both presidential candidates are using prisoners of war (POWs) and MIAs as political pawns.

At a press conference, Michele Morley said that although McGovern has used POWs for political purposes, his plan to end the war is not tied strictly to that issue.

She criticized President Nixon because he "has been talking about ending the war, but it is always tied to the release of our prisoners. McGovern has been talking about ending war as a foreign policy alternative."

Morley said her husband, Capt. Charles F. Morley, has been missing in action since 1970. The Air Force captain was shot down over Laos.

"I was notified within 24 hours after he was shot down," she said. "Initially I thought it (her husband's capture or disappearance) couldn't have happened."

Her optimism has faded, however. She said she believes her husband is dead. She was informed by the Defense Department that her husband's plane crashed and burst into flames, she added. There was no parachute sighted after the crash, she added.

"Sometimes it takes a traumatic experience to make a person become informed," she said. Informing herself on the Vietnam war took two years, she said. Before jumping on the McGovern campaign bandwagon, she said she was active in the anti-war movement.

What you get is more than what you see

Even we who spend our working hours immersed in stereo equipment would agree that our $500 Advent/Marantz/Dual/Shure stereo system looks about like any other. However, the intensive and creative engineering that's gone into each of these unusual components has produced a modest-appearing system that sounds anything but.

The Smaller Advent loudspeakers are a startling speaker bargain, of which highly-respected Stereo Review Magazine said, "Any preconceived ideas you may have about the limitations of sub-compact speaker systems will, we think, be shattered." The Marantz 2215 AM/FM stereo receiver provides sufficient power (over 30 RMS watts of it) to handle the most tortuous musical passages in the average living room, and its sensitive tuner will capture your favorite radio stations with clarity. The Dual CS-16 automatic turntable with a cartridge and diamond stylus will treat your records gently and add no unpleasant sounds of its own.

Together, these remarkable components cost just $499.95, a savings of $43.95 over their individual prices. We invite you to visit Stereo Studio to hear just how deceiving appearances can be.
