Orange Bowl ticket sale begins Monday

A special student sale for Orange Bowl tickets will be held at the UNL Coliseum Monday through Wednesday, Nov. 27-29.

According to ticket manager Jim Pittenger, approximately 2,000 tickets are available for Nebraska students. Each applicant must apply in person and present a University ID. Married students will be allowed to purchase two tickets.

Blocks not to exceed six tickets will be permitted. Students wishing to buy blocks must have all members present upon purchase.

Tickets need not be paid for at the time they are requested. In the event more than 2,000 requests are received, lottery numbers will determine those who actually receive tickets.

Winning lottery numbers will be announced in the Daily Nebraskan. Ticket price is $8.50.

The Nebraska Union, in conjunction with the Alumni Association, will sponsor a special Orange Bowl trip. The price of the trip—which is still undetermined—will include air transportation, game tickets, hotel lodging and bus transportation in Miami. The Union programs office will supply further information next week.

Sooners need 2 more wins

Oklahoma needs more than a win over Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day to guarantee itself the Big Eight championship.

The Sooners are 4-1 in Big Eight play and must meet Oklahoma State Dec. 2. Nebraska is 5-0-1 in conference action. A Husker win over Oklahoma would assure Nebraska of the Big Eight title.

Missouri and Kansas meet in Columbia, Mo., and Iowa State battles Oklahoma State in Stillwater, Okla., Saturday in other Big Eight games this week.
