

It hasn't been easy. Establishing that rowing team, that is. Not too many students even know that UNL has a crew team. So Allan Maybee, crew coach, is telling folks about it at an open house from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the boathouse north of Nebraska Hall on 16th St. Since the team was formed two years ago, it has entered two national crew events and five inter-collegiate regattas. Approximately 35 students are now members of the team.

Yogurt yields antibiotics

Yogurt has enjoyed a reputation as a health food for quite some time, and now UNL studies are revealing more evidence in its favor.

Yogurt and a similar fermented milk product, acidophilus milk, both contain natural antibiotics effective against a wide variety of disease-causing organisms. In addition, yogurt has been shown to reduce the growth of tumor cells in mice.

Khem Shahani, UNL professor of food science and technology, has recently been granted a patent for his method of preparing an antibiotic found in acidophilus milk. He said he also plans to apply for a patent for preparing another antibiotic found in yogurt.

His studies have shown that broad-spectrum antibiotics are produced by the microorganisms in both yogurt and acidophilus milk, he said. "Acidophilin" was the name given to the antibiotic associated with acidophilus milk (the one for which the patent was approved), while the yogurt antibiotic has been named "Bulgarican."

Yogurt also has been found to inhibit the growth of tumor cells in mice.

"This may not be applicable to all cancers or to all biological systems—including man's," he said.

WRH to rename; Neihardt top choice

If the proper authorities approve, Women's Residence Hall (WRH) will soon become Neihardt Hall, in honor of Nebraska poet-laureate John G. Neihardt.

Last week residents of WRH voted to change the dormitory's name. Their choice was one of four options, including People's Residence, Ketha Hall and Women's Residence Hall. Neihardt Hall received a plurality of 32 percent of the vote.

Carolyn Grice, WRH president, said the next step is to get Neihardt's approval. Grice said the proposal hopefully will be ready for the Regent's February meeting.

HI FASHION

DISCOUNT WITH STUDENT I.D. 5%

BAGGIES
PLAIDS & SOLIDS
UNCUT CORDS
DOUBLE KNITS
JEANS

1423 "O" St.

THE BODY BOUTIQUE

- NATURAL BIO-DEGRADABLE PRODUCTS
- FOR YOUR BODY
 - scented cremes, lotions and oils
 - oatmeal complexion soaps
 - strawberry yogurt lotion
 - moisturizing lotion with vitamin E
 - peaches and cream lotions
 - avocado lotions
 - pure glycerine soaps
- FOR YOUR HAIR
 - protein shampoo
 - herbal shampoo
 - lemon creme rinse
 - amino acid conditioner

1127 "P" St. 1127 "P" St.

BONE UP YOUR BRAIN POWER

Use our special final exam coupons to keep your mind functioning at peak efficiency with the best food at the best prices

Dec. 18
2 sloppy joes .55
(reg. .70)
Crib only

Dec. 19
French Fries .19
(reg. .25)
Crib only

Dec. 20
Vanilla or Chocolate malt .45
(reg. .75)
Crib only

Dec. 21
Cup of Beef-Veg. soup .29
(reg. .35)
Crib only

Dec. 22
Huskerburger & Fries .75
(Req. .89)
Crib only

A SPECIAL SERVICE FOR YOU

A place to study

The Harvest Room will be open nightly from 6:30 p.m. til closing for studying during final exam week December 18-22

All the free coffee you can drink