

Bus shuttles between campuses

Three times each weekday a handful of students and faculty members gather on the corner near Andrews Hall and shuttle between Omaha, by bus.

According to Eileen Dort, cashier at the UNL Bursar's Office, the van leaves Lincoln at 9 a.m., 10:50 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and stops in Omaha at UNO and the NU Medical Center.

Students and faculty members who wish to use the shuttle bus service may purchase a ticket at the Cashier's window in the Administration building. A student ticket costs $1 for those who are registered for classes in both Lincoln and Omaha. Other students may purchase a stand-by ticket for $1, which will be refunded if there isn't enough room. A faculty ticket costs $1.50.

There apparently is sufficient space for most passengers this semester according to Bob Cuning, supervisor of the Campus Mailing Service.

Campus custody procedures end

Effective today, UNL students arrested for some misdemeanors by the Lincoln Police Department will no longer be released to the custody of UNL Campus Security, according to Harry Canon, director of Student Development Services.

Instead, the students will be released only to an attorney—the procedure currently used by citizens other than students.

According to Gail Gade, director of Campus Security and Traffic, the policy of turning students over to campus police gave students a "privileged status."

Because Campus Security guaranteed a student's appearance in court, the student did not need an attorney.

"Our force was satisfied with the old procedure (of releasing arrested students to Campus Security)," Lincoln Police Chief Joe Carroll said.

Under the old procedure, Campus Security had about eight to 10 students released to its custody each week, Gade said. "This created a real time consumption problem (for the UNL force)," he added.

In a letter to Gade, Canon stated that the Office of Student Affairs authorizes changes in procedure for arrested students "to eliminate vestiges of in loco parentis practices that are inconsistent with institutional policy."

In the letter, Canon also stated that, effective today, minor students found in possession of alcohol can be arrested by Campus Security and turned over to civil authorities.

Campus Security officers previously referred those students to the Office of Student Affairs.
