

continued from page 5b

"I'm not afraid of mice," he says. "I just don't like them. I don't mind getting up at 3 a.m. to get rid of them. I just don't like them." He says he has no qualms about getting up at 3 a.m.

It was kind of hard at first to adjust to being alone so often, he said. "Now I really like it. I get so much done."

"I have a lot of time to myself now," he says. "I'm probably not as social as I used to be, but I'm not really missing it. I'm not missing my job."

The person living in the apartment before me kept putting his back down the sink," he explained. "After it got stopped up, he used a whole bottle of drain cleaner that ate away the pipes."

"I'm not afraid of mice," he says. "I just don't like them. I don't mind getting up at 3 a.m. to get rid of them. I just don't like them."

"I used to live in a house, but I didn't like it," he says. "I liked the idea of living in an apartment, but I didn't like the idea of living in a house."

"I used to live in a house, but I didn't like it," he says. "I liked the idea of living in an apartment, but I didn't like the idea of living in a house."

"I used to live in a house, but I didn't like it," he says. "I liked the idea of living in an apartment, but I didn't like the idea of living in a house."

APARTMENT FOLLIES: menacing mice, popcorn meals

Photos by Gail Folda
and Ted Kirk