

Student Ko-op grows to 31 area businesses

The Associated Student Ko-op (ASK) is continuing to add university members and businesses, according to Ken Kirk, ASK manager.

"We now have 31 different locations which honor the ASK cards and we want to continue adding businesses at the rate of four or five a week," said Kirk.

ASK sells membership cards to students, faculty and staff for $5, which enables them to get discounts ranging from three and one-half to fifty per cent.

Ann Henry, ASUN president said, "We're excited about the addition of new stores. I'm especial pleased to see the addition of a drugstore (Rubert's Drug), fabric shop (Jeanne's Fashion Fabric), record store (Tucker Record Shop) and clothing store."

"We want to have a wide variety of businesses in the Koop, so all members can save money," Kirk said.

"Our major problem right now is that we need people to contact additional businesses and sell membership cards. As card sales grow, businesses will be less reluctant to join the Koop," he said.

"There now are several vacancies on the Koop Board of Directors, and we're looking for people with business or management interests to fill the openings," Kirk said.

He said the Koop also is looking for a new manager. "I accepted the job on an interim basis. I wanted to get the Koop moving, but now I think we need someone with management training if the Koop is to continue to grow and expand in a beneficial way for students and staff," Kirk said.

"We hope to have office space of our own soon. We want to be able to set up our card-making machine in an office so students, faculty and staff will know where to buy ASK cards," Kirk said.

"We also need a central location where updated lists of participating businesses can be distributed to members," he said.

Trial fires obscenity inquiry

The foreman of the jury which sat on an obscenity case in Lancaster County Court last week said Tuesday he and the other five jurors plan to write the Lincoln City Library Board complaining of certain books on library shelves.

William H. Hyde, 624 S. 51 St., said some of the books submitted as evidence by defense attorneys for John Serafine last week were obscene and the "figment of some woman's imagination."

Hyde specifically referred to Karl Shapiro's Edsel and the magazine Evergreen. The books were submitted in hopes of convincing the jury that Lincoln's community standards have become more liberal.

The books were intended to offset the state's evidence which included two magazines titled Four Play and Sex and Violence and a film clip titled Artist Conception.

Hyde said the jurors were acting as private citizens.

"I think citizens should get up in arms over what's in the library. We're not going to speak for everybody. We're just stating our feelings," Hyde said.

Everybody's talking about pollution. Woody Owl has a way for you to stop it.
