

us, we'll help them out just as well as anybody else."

"You need so many for staffing a store, whether the minimum wage is $2 or $5 an hour," James Knudsen, personnel manager of Brandeis, said.

A wage hike would probably mean more part-time jobs and thus more student openings at the Radisson-Cornhusker, general manager Pete Clark said.

But he said he would have to wait to see what compensating allowances the Phase IV economic policy would make concerning prices.

Erwin Chesen, owner of the Villager Motel, which hires about 25-30 UNL students, said job cutbacks there would be at the high school, not college level.

Some businesses, such as Mapes Industries Inc., hire student help at over $2 an hour already, and so would not be affected by a wage increase.

Miller and Paine Dept. Store both downtown and Gateway, employer of several hundred students, probably wouldn't cut back student jobs, either.

"They work on an incentive basis with a commission and will still have to make a certain quota. Evelyn Graham in personnel, said.
