

Husker harriers run into trouble

Missouri cross country captain Charlie McMullen paced the Tigers to a 21-40 victory over the Huskers Saturday with a time of 25:37.4 over Columbia's four-mile course.

Top Nebraska runner and third place finisher Lynn Hall said several teammates were suffering from injuries and sickness.

"(Bob) Unger has been slowed considerably the past couple of weeks with a sore leg, while (Keith) Whitaker has even missed the last two meets due to a virus he's had. Thus, we weren't as strong as we could have been against Missouri," he said.

He said the Big 8 conference champion most likely will be Colorado or Missouri. He said the Huskers' chances were remote.

Coach Frank Sevigne said he feels his team "has been running good, but not extremely well." Hall has an excellent chance of finishing among the top five conference runners, Sevigne said.

"Several men have missed valuable days of practice. This late in the season that often proves fatal," he said.

Missouri placed seven men in the top 10 to defeat Nebraska.

Hall's time was 25:54. He was followed by fourth place Husker Mike Fertig, whose time was 26:10. Other Nebraska runners included Roger Chadwick, who finished 10th with 26:37. Unger was seven seconds behind Chadwick to finish 11th. Final Nebraska point man was Larry Gnapp, whose 28:17 time was good for 15th.

The Huskers' next opponent is Drake University Saturday at Pioneer Park.

Homecoming clash to test 1st ranked Husker defense

By Bill Bennett

It will be No. 1 against No. 4 when Nebraska's football team clashes with the University of Kansas Jayhawks Saturday afternoon in Memorial Stadium.

That is, it will be the Huskers' pass defense, which is ranked No. 1 in the nation, against Jayhawk quarterback David Jaynes, who is the fourth leading passer in the country.

After five games, opposing quarterbacks have tried passing on Nebraska 62 times and have completed only 16 for 115 yards. That's an average of 23 yards a game or 25.8 per cent completion. The Huskers have intercepted five passes.

Jaynes has completed 79 of 140 passes and has had only one intercepted. He has thrown for 965 yards and has completed 56.4 per cent of his passes. Jaynes also has eight touchdown passes to his credit.

Randy Borg, senior right cornerback for the Huskers, said Jaynes "is a great passer."

"He has always been a good quarterback, but this year he is picking out his secondary receivers better," Borg said. "He's also throwing better off balance and under pressure."

Warren Powers, defensive backfield coach, said the Kansas game will be the defensive secondary's "first real test."

"When Jaynes was a sophomore he didn't really hurt us because he didn't have any pass protection, and last year he was injured when we played Kansas," he said. "But this year he is a quarterback with confidence, maturity, and he knows how to read defenses well."

Teaming up with Jaynes are receivers Bruce Adams and Emmett Edwards. So far this year, Edwards has 19 catches for 304 yards, and Adams has 19 catches for 268 yards and six touchdowns.

Borg remembers Adams from last year when Adams was "the little kid in Nebraska's defensive secondary."

"Adams impressed me last year. He has great hands and goes for the ball well," Borg said.

Although the defensive backfield would like to hold Jaynes under his average of 193 yards a game, Borg said "the only important thing is winning."

"We would like to hold him to nothing," Borg said. "But if he passes for 500 yards and we still win the game as a team, that's all that's important."

Powers attributes the success of the Huskers pass defense to a total defensive effort.

Joining Borg, whom Powers describes as "an intelligent and consistent football player," in the defensive backfield is senior left cornerback Zaven Yeralian.

"This is Zaven's first year as a full starter," Powers said. "Even though he played mainly against the wishbone last year, this year he is playing our zone defenses very well."

Playing safety is senior Bob Thornton. Powers said that as a safety, "Thornton must help out on everything. He reads plays well and tackles well."

Juniors Mark Heydorff and Wonder Monds are alternating at the monster position. Powers said both men have lots of physical ability, and "they are learning their defensive assignments extremely fast."

Reserve defensive secondary men are monster Terry Rogers, cornerbacks Ardell Johnson, Chuck Jones and Pat Fischer and safety George Kyros.

Soccer team's record now 4-2-1

The UNL soccer team snapped Concordia Teachers College's unbeaten string at 12 games with a 3-1 victory last Saturday in Memorial Stadium. The UNL victory followed a 1-1 tie against Concordia earlier this year and upped its record to 4-2-1.

Abel Alvarez, Victor Bishop and Trygve Fekjan scored the UNL goals.

The team's next game is at 1 p.m. Sunday, in Memorial Stadium against the Omaha Huskers, a junior amateur team ranked fifth in the nation.

ATO win boosts ranking

Alpha Tau Omega, by virtue of an easy victory over previously once beaten Triangle, is this week's Daily Nebraskan Class A flag football team of the week.

The victory, which made the ATOs season record 4-1, vaulted them into ninth position in the Daily Nebraskan poll of Class A teams.

The only loss suffered by the ATOs was a 40-25 setback from No. 1 Phi Delta Theta two weeks ago.

Returning offensive and defensive starter Steve Chadek said "our potent offense is enough to keep us in a game against anyone."

Chadek said they lost only a few starters from last year's squad, and a few freshmen have proved to be valuable assets.

"We hope we can play together as one solid unit in the playoffs for the All-University title. If we can, our chances for the title are as good as anyone else," he said.

Intramural coordinator Phil Sienna said scheduled games have been rained out six nights in the last two weeks.

"We have approximately 140 games to make up this next week," he said.

The Top 10:

- |                            |                          |
|----------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1. Phi Delta Theta (4-0)   | 6. Delta Upsilon (4-1)   |
| 2. Pro Students (3-0)      | 7. Gus II (4-0)          |
| 3. Abel X (4-0)            | 8. Phi Delta Phi (4-0)   |
| 4. Acacia (6-0)            | 9. Alpha Tau Omega (4-1) |
| 5. Alpha Gamma Sigma (5-0) | 10. Glenn (4-0)          |

Honorable mentions are earned by Sigma Phi Epsilon (4-1), Harper IV (3-1), Rogers (5-0), Nads (4-1) and Beta Sigma Psi (5-1).
