CSL accepts housing report

By Mark Hoffman

Almost four months after making the charge, four weeks after receiving the report and 38 minutes into discussion, the Council on Student Life (CSL) Thursday accepted and endorsed the Differentiated Housing Report.

The report, the work of the Differentiated Housing Task Force (a subcommittee of the CSL Housing Policy Committee), includes recommendations for alternate life styles.

Those recommendations include visitation policies for different dormitory floors ranging from none to as many as 24 hours of coed visitation, eliminating the current "open door" and individual sponsorship policies, allowing alcohol to be kept and consumed in UNL residence halls with at least one floor of each hall not allowing alcohol and the establishment of academic floors according to student demand.

In other action, CSL voted 6-2 to accept a revised and amended version of the council's bylaws. Included in the bylaws concerning membership to the CSL was a segment that would make two current members ineligible.

Changed in the bylaws was a segment for CSL membership which now reads "Two professional staff members other than faculty, not under the direct supervision of the Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs shall be appointed to the council by the Chancellor."

CSL members, Richard Armstrong, Housing Program Director, and Hal Smith, UNL Student Development Programs Director, would be made ineligible when, and if the bylaws go into effect because they are administrators under the direct supervision of the vice chancellor.

Ely Meyerson, CSL member and dean of administration for Student Affairs, acts as the vice chancellor's designee. The revised bylaws keep the provision that the vice chancellor of Student Affairs, or his or her designee will be a member of the Council.

John Goebel, CSL member and associate professor of accounting, defended the revision by arguing that there "shouldn't be so much concentration from the Student Affairs office" on the council when CSL has so much to do with what ultimately happens with that office.
