

UFO offers students triple option

Susanne Schafer

Three—three—three candidates in one! That's what Ron Sindelar is offering the voters in the coming ASUN election.

Sindelar, a junior with an undeclared major, is running on the United For One (UFO) Party as candidate for ASUN president, first vice president and second vice president.

According to Lance Bristol, chairman of the ASUN Electoral Commission, Sindelar may only hold one post if elected to more than one.

Why is he running? The answer depends upon which candidate is asked, says Sindelar.

"I'd think it would be a good deal for students," says presidential candidate Sindelar.

The first vice presidential candidate was not available for comment.

The second vice presidential candidate said he is running "for the hell of it and to have a good time."

The UFO party has been brought together, Sindelar said, to bring diverse personalities and viewpoints into the ASUN offices.

"Our party has the best chance for cooperation because we can really get together," he said.

"The student lawyer worked out so well, we should hire a student gardener or a student detective. Also, if I am elected, every student who can prove he or she has voted for me will receive $1 from student fees after I am elected," he said.

The second vice presidential candidate expressed a negative view of the ASUN student organization.

"ASUN is a bunch of bullshit. It is a means to fulfill a lot of ego trips of the candidates," he said.

Sindelar harked back to earlier years of ASUN campaigns and recalled the election during which the Rocket, Grease and Freedom Party ran.

Sindelar was an unsuccessful candidate for the ASUN Senate on that ticket.

"One of the burning issues Rick and the Rockets (a music group which ran on the ticket) championed was one that touches all students and which still hasn't been accomplished—placing pencil sharpeners in all classrooms," he said.

"My god, have you ever taken one of those computer tests and your pencil breaks?—you're screwed," he said.

'Follies' begin Week

"Greek Follies" will headline Greek Week, March 9-13, in the Coliseum Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

David McBride, Inter-Fraternity Council member, said "we thought the follies was something we could get a lot of people involved in. There are a lot of alumni who would remember this kind of thing and be interested in seeing it."

The Follies presented by representatives of UNL's 41 fraternity and sorority houses, is a revival of Kosmet Klub's Fall Revue and Coed Follies.

Other Greek Week activities include a 7 p.m. meeting Sunday in the Nebraska Union. Bill Butler, National Executive Secretary of Delta Upsilon Fraternity, will be the speaker.

A noon alumni luncheon at the American Legion Club and a 6 p.m. exchange dinner for all Greek houses will be held Monday. A leadership banquet and seminar is scheduled Tuesday at 6 p.m. for undergraduates of each house and their alums.

Ending the week will be a city-wide canned goods drive Wednesday on behalf of the Lancaster County Public Welfare Dept.

No quorum prevents CSL action

The Council on Student Life (CSL) Thursday night reviewed and discussed a document which includes the consolidation of all existing UNL housing policies in the Student Handbook, but lack of a quorum by the meeting's end prevented further action.

Eight members of the 15-member body were present to begin the meeting, but one student member, Jane Owens, left midway through the meeting. Eight members are needed for a quorum. Five of the eight student members failed to attend.

The consolidation, drafted by the CSL Housing Policy Committee (HPC), was undertaken to prevent confusion by centralizing all housing policies in one place in the Student Handbook, according to CSL member Bill Freudenburg.

Currently those policies are scattered in different parts of the Student Handbook and in other housing booklets.

While making a motion to accept the consolidation and redrafting of the housing policy, Freudenburg noted that CSL was on record as supporting modification of certain of those policies concerning visitation and alcohol.

UNL does not allow alcohol to be kept or consumed on campus, and coed visitation is allowed a maximum of six hours a day except for 12 hours on Saturday. CSL supports allowing alcohol on campus and more visitation hours.

In other business, CSL Chairman Don Shaneyfelt told CSL that it should determine how it wanted to conduct an evaluation of the UNL Ombudsman's office.

The evaluation, which will be undertaken by other UNL groups is to determine the effectiveness of the office, whether it should continue, and if so, whether in modified form or as it is now, Shaneyfelt said. James Suter currently is the UNL ombudsman.
