TELEVISION
A 3 HOUR ORGY

GROUCHO MARX in YOU BET YOU LIFE (1956)

Features Groucho, George Fenneman, and the Mad Duck who pops in when the Secret Word is said. Groucho's insane contestants tonight include the San Francisco zoo keeper who sleeps with the animals!

SUPERMAN (1955)

Streak! Streak! Stars George Reeves, Perry White and Lois Lane. A special episode made for the U.S. Treasury Dept. in which Superman tells youngsters of the virtues in buying government savings bonds. A howl!

RICHARD NIXON'S CHECKERS SPEECH (1952)

The President is accused of corruption! The most transparently fraudulent speech in the history of American politics. This one will bring the house down!

ELVIS PRESLEY on ED SULLIVAN (1955)

Elvis was censored from the waist down! as he pounded out Don't Be Cruel and Love Me Tender. An utterly magical piece of purest nostalgia. Don't miss it.

THE LONE RANGER (1952)

The very first episode ever made! We learn why the heroic Texas Ranger dons his mask and how he meets his faithful Indian companion Tonto. A camp classic!

AMOS 'N ANDY (1952)

Perhaps your only chance to see again a riotously funny episode from a legendary show. In this one, Andy and the Kingfish throw a monkey wrench into a United States Defense factory that's in the bomb manufacturing business.

SERGEANT BILKO (1958)

Hysterically wild as Phil Silvers as con-man Ernie Bilko leads Colonel Hall through Nick's Diner on his way to an AWOL wedding - and on the night of the War Games!

Committee positions remain unfilled

Although the interviewing period for 1974-75 ASUN committee appointments has ended, there are still some seats to be filled, according to David Howlett, ASUN second vice president.

Because the committees wanted more selection time, interviews were held from April 15 until Wednesday. They originally were to end April 19.

Howlett said student were not informed that the time period was extended.

He said ASUN executives have been busy preparing a budget and have been without a full-time secretary the past two weeks.

Posters, an ad in the Daily Nebraskan and letters sent to student assistants and sorority and fraternity presidents helped publicize the interviews.

Howlett estimated 70 to 80 people have been interviewed and called it a "fairly normal pattern." People are more interested in sitting on the popular committees like the Council on Student Life, Publications Board and Fees Allocation Board, Howlett said.

New appointees "are expected to be responsible to ASUN," Howlett said. "The reason why they are sitting on the board is to voice ASUN's opinion. If they don't do that, we have the power to remove them."

"The Senate Action Committee on Appointments will be responsible to contact all people appointed to various committees to see what is going on," he explained.

Howlett encouraged students to apply for positions at the ASUN office. All the committee openings probably will not be filled when school ends, he said.
