

'School for Wives' to tour Nebraska

Moliere's play, "School for Wives", concerns the efforts of an older man, Arnolphe, to keep his young wife, Agnes, innocent and ignorant. His plans fail when Agnes falls in love with a young and handsome family friend, Horace.

"School for Wives" will be taken on tour of Nebraska towns starting in September.
