Fall orientation returns this week

Fall orientation is back, bigger than ever before. It is an attempt to reach more than the 28 per cent of freshmen who attended summer orientations, according to Mary Dean, one of the event's coordinators.

"New Student Week," Aug. 22-26, includes social events and information sessions for any freshmen who come to campus early.

"Ihave no idea what kind of response we'll get," Dean said.

But she said it's part of a more continuous contact with freshmen desired by the UNL Student Activities office.

Some weekend retreats may also be scheduled thoughtout the semester, she said.

Fall orientations were discontinued when there was a trend among students away from organized acivities, Dean'said.

"Their time has come again, I think," she said.
"New Student Week" will include:

Thursday

All day—Students move in; 9 am-4:30 pm—Information booths, festival of activities, north of Nebraska Union; 6:30-7:30 pm—New student ice cream social and program, Sheldon Art Gallery Gardens (transportation is available from East Campus Union)

9 am-4:30 pm-Information booths, festival of activities, north of Union; 9:30-11:30 am—Meetings with advisors; 9 pm-midnight—Dance, Harper, Schramm, Smith Courtyard.

Saturday 9 am-3 pm--Information booths, festival of activities, north of Union; 1:30 pm—Campus tours, beginning at information booths; 9 pm-midnight—Dance, Nebraska Engineering Center parking lot, 17th and Vine Streets.

Sunday 1:30 pm—Campus tours, beginning at information booths; 5-7 pm—New student night at campus religious centers.

Monday 9 am-4 pm-Information booths, north of Union. Tuesday

9 am-4 pm-Information booths, north of Union.

COFFEE SERVED FROM 7:00 A.M.

You can still get that same good hot cup of morning coffee at Henry's. After you've taken a couple a sips and started to wake up, you might notice that we have a new look. And if you're hungry, you might also notice that we have some new sandwiches.

So come on in, have some coffee and take a friend to lunch.

