

HEW...

Continued from page 1

"They may be feeling that they've lost their autonomy, their individual identity as an all-female program," he said. Fowler said athletics received the most attention at the yearling.

"People feel something very traditional is being threatened," he said.

Regarding other areas the regulation affects Jayne Anderson, UNL coordinator of sororities, fraternities and cooperatives, said there is nationwide concern for how the regulation would affect admission policies of Greek houses.

She said the regulation would not affect UNL houses but would affect those on other campuses who rent from a university or receive some form of aid from the school.

Anderson said Motor Board, a women's honorary society, is adopting a "wait and see attitude" as to how the regulation might affect membership.

Anderson is a national Motor Board officer.

At a national conference last year, however, members voted unanimously to remain an all-female organization, she said.

Current University employment policies already comply with those set forth in the regulation, according to Roy Loudon, UNL personnel director.

Policies include the classification of pregnancy as a temporary disability with disability leave and fringe benefits, and equal pay to employees of both sexes doing the same work, he asked.

According to Fowler, most of the complaints received about the regulation have been aimed at the Title IX legislation rather than at the regulation itself.

"The law has already been passed," he said. "The question now is whether the guidelines comply with law accurately or not."

Fair exhibits

UNL will display exhibits ranging from a dinosaur to an electric car at the Nebraska State Fair which will run Aug. 30 through Sept. 11.

University displays will be set up in the Natural History Building.

A number of different exhibits will be displayed.

The State Museum will present an overview of its exhibits on campus. One exhibit will feature the construction of a life-size model of a dinosaur.

The College of Dentistry and the American Cancer Society will conduct oral cancer examinations that will require less than a minute.

Other University colleges and departments with displays will be the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, the College of Home Economics, College of Arts and Sciences, College of Business Administration, College of Engineering and Technology, College of Law, Teachers College, Extension Division, Agricultural Engineering Dept. and the Alumni Association.

calendar

Friday

12-6 p.m.—ASUN Book Exchange-Nebraska Union
12-30 p.m.—Muslim Student Assoc.-Union
1-30 p.m.—American Pharmaceutical Assoc.-Union

University of Nebraska Performing Arts Series

Jacques D'Amboise "Ballet Encounter"
Friday, September 27

Itzhak Perlman, violin
Thursday, November 7

Loretto-Hilton Mime Troupe
Friday, December 6

Syntagma Musicum from Amsterdam
(Renaissance Music Ensemble) Saturday, January 18

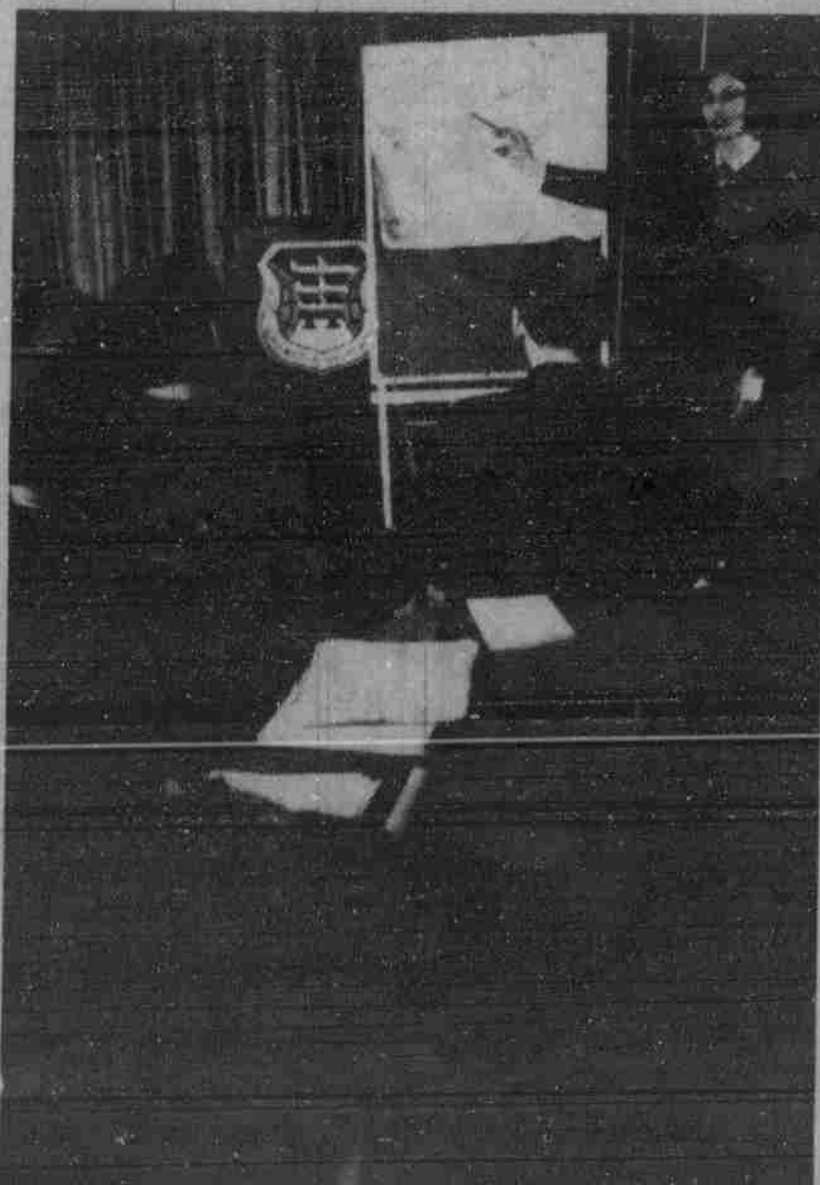

Igor Kipnis, hapsichord
Saturday, February 15

Series Tickets: students $7.50 regular $13.50
Available: Music Bldg. Rm. 113 & Union South Desk
or Call 472-3375 or 472-2506
All concerts in Kimball Recital Hall, 11th & R
All seats reserved
Single tickets available beginning September 26.
Students $2.50 regular $4.00
ASUN approved

WALK-IN WEST DOOR
HEALTH CENTER

...and we've done something about it!

A young woman who enrolls in Air Force ROTC is eligible to compete for an Air Force scholarship that includes free tuition, lab and incidental fees, and reimbursement for textbooks for her first 2 years of college. In addition, a tax-free monthly allowance of $100 is paid to both scholarship and non-scholarship cadets alike.

When she gets her degree, the career as an Air Force officer awaits her, matching her abilities to a job with rewarding challenges. With benefits like 30 days' paid vacation, good pay, foreign travel, and a great place to build a future.

Interested? Contact Department of Aerospace Studies - 209 M & N. And remember, in the Air Force, you'll be looked up to as well as at.

PUT IT ALL TOGETHER IN AIR FORCE ROTC