

Brantz files complaint

Tassels: no apology

Tassels President Carolyn Grice said Tuesday afternoon her organization has no intention of apologizing to Gary Brantz for disqualifying him as winner of the homecoming queen election last week.

Grice's statement came after Brantz filed a complaint in UNL Student Court. He said he would drop the complaint if the Tassels apologize during the next home football game.

She said Corn Cobs President Jim Eiberger helped her make the decision after receiving several complaints about Brantz's campaign.

"We are not going to apologize because we feel the disqualification was justified, and because we weren't the only organization involved in the decision," Grice said.

Dennis Onnen, Brantz's campaign manager, said Brantz charged he was illegally disqualified by the Tassels. The crown went to Chris Evans, who received the second-most votes.

Grice said Brantz was disqualified because he campaigned too close to the polls on election day and put up campaign posters.

NOW THAT ALL THE VOTES ARE COUNTED, WHOM SHALL WE PICK FOR HOMECOMING QUEEN?
