

—TRY A DIFFERENT WAY—

International Living at INTERNATIONAL HOUSE

Close-in / many activities / Academically oriented. Second semester openings—
Call Jay Hall 435-2962 Neihardt Center

the zodiac couples

Your Intimate Astrological
Love
Guide

In Color
Electronic Score

Astrology and the intimacies of love-making...
nude... youthful couples illustrate the relationship of each astrological sign to the sex drive... N.Y. Times

(X) Persons under 18 not admitted

STARTS TODAY! EMBASSY THEATRE

SHOWS 11:20, 12:40, 4:20, 6, 7:40, 9:20
FRI. & SAT. LATE SHOW AT 11:00!
ABSOLUTELY NO ONE UNDER 18!

Now on display...
a piece of art

you can hear.

From Bang & Olufsen, Denmark—

The Beomaster 3000 2 stereo receiver from the Design Collection, Museum of Modern Art.

The 3000 2 offers unique pushbutton
and slide rule operation in a component of discriminating quality, design and craftsmanship.

Audio Systems and Design

5421 So. 84th ST. Phone: 489-9888

BANG & OLUFSEN Representative
DAVID JACOBS will be at our Lincoln
location TODAY, DEC. 6th,

1:00 - 5:30 & 7:30 - 9:30 pm

We invite you to come in... have a cup of coffee ... and chat with David about
B&O products, past, present, and future.

Student's interests diversified

Most people think of an architect as the person who designed a special building, Leach, a fifth-year architecture student, said. "But, the architect is much more diversified," he added.

According to Leach, the architect must supervise the construction of buildings, the purchase of materials and the specifications of the buildings dimensions.

The architect must be able to isolate a problem, analyze it and work towards solving it, he said.

Ed Leach fulfills the qualifications of such an architect, according to John Benson, assistant dean of the College of Architecture. "Leach is one of the extremely fine and analytical scholars we've had in the College of Architecture," Benson said.

"Ed is also an interesting mix of interests," Benson said.

According to Leach, he has three main interests: architecture, structural engineering and music. Each of these interests help make up his personality, he said.

One of the most significant of Leach's activities was the winning of the Leo Daly Traveling Scholarship, which provided him a 32-week trip to Europe to study architecture last summer.

Two Phases

According to Leach, the trip was divided into two phases: a semester of study in London and 17 weeks of traveling throughout Europe.

Leach's original scholarship proposal called for a "study of lightweight structures in Europe.

He said he especially admires the work of Frieotto, a German architect who did the cable-net structures at the 1972 Munich Olympics and is considered a leader in the field.

According to Benson, Leach's exhibition of photos taken during his trip is "a fine professional showing."

Some differences between American and European architecture are because of the climate, Leach said.

Because the buildings are designed for the climate, he said a British building might never make it through a Nebraska winter.

Architectural firm

During high school and college, Leach said he worked at an architectural firm in Omaha which provided him with architectural experience.

According to Leach, he worked his way from "gopher" to junior designer in the firm. He said as a junior designer he did some work on some of the stores in the Kansas City Crown Center.

Because every building has structure, he said he is interested in structural engineering as it applies to architecture.

Another of Leach's interests is music. He said that at a younger age, he had decided to go into architecture but that music is still one of his loves.

He played oboe in the University of Nebraska Orchestra and performed with the Lincoln Symphony and the Omaha Opera Company.

Leach said he is thinking about going on to graduate school and his long-range goal is to become a registered architect.

READ DAILY

NEBRASKAN

WANT—ADS

Innovative by Orange Blossom

A burst of light from a band of 18K gold.
Young, beautiful, and warm
just like your love.

Sartor Hamann

REGISTERED JEWELER AMERICAN GEM SOCIETY
Downtown and Gateway

a soap basket full of stocking stuffers

stocking stuffers for your honey...or your folks...your uncle...or your house mother...Lots of fine gifts for anyone who uses a bathroom....at coordinated fashions

COORDINATED BATH FASHIONS
Gebelhaus Plumbing & Heating Inc.
832 N. 27th 432-4915

weekdays 10-5:30 thursday 10-9 saturday 10-4