

Three darkrooms

Open to residents

Students in photography courses or students who are interested in working in a darkroom have the option of using a darkroom in one of the residence halls on campus.

Not all the residence halls are equipped with darkrooms but Abel, Centennial and Harper are. The darkrooms are open to residents for a small fee and if they are qualified to work in a darkroom.

"The students come to me and I try to determine if they are qualified to be working in a darkroom situation," Paul Harano, chairman of the Harper Hall darkroom committee said. "If a student isn't qualified, I'll teach him and watch over him till he is."

Harano said he does the work on a volunteer basis.

The Harper darkroom is open to both Harper and Smith residents, but Schramm residents are not allowed to use the equipment because they haven't helped to sponsor it, Harano said.

Abel's darkroom, which opened only a few weeks ago, is equipped to develop and enlarge black and white film like Harper's is, but in addition Abel will be getting equipment to develop color film.

"We have more equipment than any other darkroom on campus," said Bitsy Griego, who is in charge of Abel's darkroom. "Part of the reason for that is that we found a room in very good condition so we didn't have to waste time and money on building up and remodeling a room."

About 20 students use the Harper darkroom and about 30 use Abel's, according to Harano and Griego.

"We are trying to provide for all the needs and interests of UNL students," Griego said.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Should I Sell?

One of the questions students must answer at the end of the semester is whether to sell their textbooks or to keep them for possible future reference. We hope the following information about the value of used textbooks will assist you in that decision.

1. Top Value.

Current edition textbooks required for classes at UNL for the upcoming semester are bought back at Nebraska Bookstore at 50% of the regular price. The top value price extends through the regular buyback period at the end of each semester and drops as the quantities for classes are filled.

2. Intermediate Value.

Current edition textbooks which may be used for upcoming semesters but which have not yet been ordered by the instructor are bought at speculative prices between wholesale value and top value. About half of these books will move up in value and half will decrease in value as we get more information on class requirements.

3. Wholesale Value.

Current edition textbooks no longer being used on the UNL campus can often be purchased by Nebraska Book Company for resale to schools in other parts of the United States. Prices on these books vary according to the national demand for each title.

4. Limited Value.

Old edition textbooks and most paperbacks fall into this category. Check our prices and then decide whether or not to keep these books for your personal library or for future reference use.
