

Regents OK NU proposal

The NU Board of Regents approved a proposed contract with the University of Minnesota to send five Nebraska students to the MU College of Veterinary Medicine in the fall of 1975, according to Dr. Duane Acker, vice chancellor of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Final details of the contract will be approved by MU officials February 14.

The 20-year contract will allow 20 NU students to attend at in-state tuition costs by 1980.

He said applicants should contact Marvin J. Twiehouse, chairman of veterinary science, by the Feb. 15 deadline. Acker recommended getting applications in by the first week of February.

He said the University of Nebraska now has contracts with six area veterinary colleges—Iowa State, which allows for 10 Nebraska students, Kansas State, Colorado State, University of Missouri, and Oklahoma State, all allowing no minimum guarantee.

short stuff

The deadline for applying for summer jobs in the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and the Interior and in the Veteran's Administration is Feb. 15. These jobs do not require a Civil Service exam and are for people studying for or experienced in a specific area. For more information contact the UNL Placement Office, Nebraska Union 230.

Financial aid seminars will be held Tuesday at Abel-Sandoz and Harper Halls 7-8 p.m.; Wednesday at Cather-Pound 7:30-8:30 p.m.; and Burr-Fedde 7-8 p.m.; and Thursday at Selleck 8-9 p.m. and Nebraska Union Small Auditorium 7-8 p.m.

Information will be given on what financial aids will be available next fall and on application procedures.

The 1975 Summer Sessions Information and Class Schedule booklet is now available at the Registration Office in the Administration Bldg. or in Summer Sessions Office in Teachers College. Pre-registration for Summer Session classes and workshops begins March 17 and ends April 4.

FILM

PROCESSING

discount prices

overnight service on KODAKOLOR
PROCESSING

12 exposures $2.99
20 exposures $4.51

at the

CAMPUS BOOKSTORE

1245 'R'

ph. 432-0331

Residence hall rates raised for next fall

Students living in UNL residence halls can expect a $95 increase in their room and board rates next semester.

However, the resolution passed by the NU Board of Regents Saturday, is a $45 cut from the original $140 proposed increase presented to the board.

Introduced by Regent Robert Koefoot, the resolution passed with a provision that the Board of Regents would decide later how to make up the $45 per occupant deficit.

The $5.50 per day rate charged for room and board is still a bargain in these days, according to UNL Chancellor James Zumberge. "However, something must make up the deficit," he said.

The deficit is the $45 per occupant that will be lost by the passing of the resolution. That figure is based on an 86 per cent occupancy rate in residence halls. According to Zumberge, an increased percentage of occupancy in the residence halls could take care of some of the deficit, but additional measures, possibly cuts in meals, may be necessary.

Ken Bader, vice chancellor for student affairs, said residence halls "pared costs to the bottom," and saved as much as $500,000.

All operating costs and original construction bonds are paid by the student room and board fees under a contractual arrangement with NU, Zumberge said.

The residence halls are self-supporting and pay a fee to the UNL Administration for management, he said.

McCollister:

Confidence needed

Continued from p. 1

On the economy, McCollister also said "look at it this way, there are about as many people working now as a year ago; the new people coming onto the job market have just not been assimilated into it."

He said, "The biggest thing we need is a rekindling of that kind of confidence (that comes with an abundant economy.)" He said that the proposed tax cut would help the economy as people feel freer to spend money which in turn can be used by business to hire more people and put more money into the system.

Wage, Price controls doubtful

Rumors that wage and price controls will again be imposed, possibly as early as July, were dismissed by McCollister. He said that although the Democratic caucus voted for the controversial proposals, the majority had been small and it was "quite questionable" whether they would pass on the floor.

McCollister said the controls would "impede development of corrective measures."

Butz articulate spokesman

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, reportedly on the way out of the Ford administration, has been an "articulate spokesman for agriculture," according to McCollister. "The thing I fault him for is that he sometimes pitted the farmer against the consumer. That's poor strategy considering there are many more consumers."

McCollister described consumers and farmers as "natural partners."

McCollister offered no comment on the recent convictions of former Nixon aides H.R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman, John Mitchell and Robert Mardian. Neither would he comment on the release of John Dean, Kerbert Kalmbach and Jeb Stuart Magruder, who were convicted in the Watergate scandal and released after testifying before the Grand Jury and Senate committees investigating the case.

What a few good college men should know about Marine Corps PLC: Platoon Leaders Class. It's our commissioning program open to freshmen, sophomores and juniors. All training is in the summer, with pay. And there's financial assistance avail- able during the school year: $100 a month, from Septem- ber to May, for up to three years.

Ground. If you want to be a leader of men, you go to Quantico, Virginia—and prove it. Meet that challenge, and you'll be commissioned when you graduate from college.

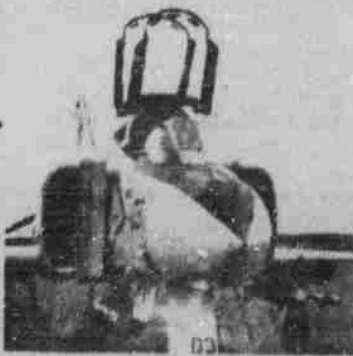

Air. One out of three Marine officers is in aviation. We fly up a storm—in aircraft like the new Harrier VSTOL jet. We'll teach you to lead, and then to fly.

Law. If you're headed for law school, you can earn a commission now, and begin active duty as a lawyer after you've passed the bar. We're looking for a few good men. Quality, not quantity. Men who will lead other men—as officers in the United States Marine Corps.

THE MARINE CORPS OFFICER SELECTION TEAM WILL BE IN THE PLACEMENT CENTER ON 21, 22, & 23 JANUARY FROM 10:00 A.M. TO 3:00 P.M. TO ANSWER QUESTIONS ABOUT THE OFFICER PROGRAM.