Engineering College

Energy grant awarded

UNL's College of Engineering and Technology has received a $60,000 grant for energy research from Northern Natural Gas Co., according to the Office of University Information.

Over a three-year period, three doctoral students will receive $15,000 each to do the research, plus $5,000 each for special equipment, said George Hanna, engineering college dean. The four preferred research areas are: energy use, fuel synthesis, the environment and pipeline transportation of fuel.

Hanna said the engineering graduate board is selecting the students for the fellowships. The research should begin by September, he said.

According to Hanna, the Omaha-based utility firm is giving money to several other universities, but UNL's grant is the largest.

"We had been discussing energy problems with Northern Natural," he said, "and they recognize we have the facilities, the faculty and the resources (for research of this type)."

Northern Natural would not reveal the names of the other schools that are being given money or why UNL was given the largest sum.

RACETIME
60 YEARS AGO

January 22, 1915—From the Society Column: Very few parties are scheduled for this week end and indications are that most of the students will devote their time to serious preparation for final examinations this week.

John L. Cutright, a graduate of Nebraska University, who was the newly accredited American vice consul at Nottingham England, was not accepted by the mayor and other city officials because of his letters published in a Lincoln paper which were regarded as expressive of pro-German sentiment. Before going to Nottingham, Mr. Cutright served as American vice consul at Coburg Germany. He is the son of John W. Cutright of Lincoln, and was formerly private secretary of W.J. Bryant. Mt. Cutright expects to return to America soon.
