60 YEARS AGO

March 8, 1915—The Band was unable to give their regular concert Thursday afternoon because of the "domestic science exhibit" which is being given in the Temple Theatre. Next Thursday however, an unusually good program is promised.

The Palladian girls gave their annual banquet last Friday night at the home of Professor Stuff. The program was short and spicy. Chauncey Smith acted as toastmaster and held his old record for wit and humor.

The annual banquet given by the Palladian girls has been called the best of its kind in the history of the society. It was informal from start to finish.

Over six hundred high school athletes will gather in Lincoln this week to compete in the biggest basketball tournament in the world. Seventy schools will be represented. By Saturday night the process of elimination will have left four undefeated teams, and on that evening the two final contests for the championship will be held.
