Wedding Tips

What about your wedding dress?

Most brides are very surprised to find that when they go to order their wedding dress and attendant's dresses that it is impossible to receive them by the wedding date. They do not realize that it sometimes takes 3 months to get a dress in. It is of most importance that the bride allows enough time to plan her wedding and it is very helpful if she sets up a calendar of things to do when she begins to plan for her wedding.

Coordinating attendant dresses and tuxedos.

In these times when a bride can pick from a variety of tuxedos for the groom and groomsmen, she fails to realize the need for coordination between the attendant's dresses and the tuxedos. For example bridesmaid dresses come in many shades of blue while tuxedos are only available in 2 or 3 shades. It can be very frustrating if the bride cannot find the tuxedos she needs to coordinate with the attendant's dresses. A good tip to overcome this problem is to shop for both at the same time. Even if the groomsmen don't have to rent until a week or two before the wedding, at least the bride will know that what she wants for her wedding, will be available.
