NU entertainment: events for everyone

The cliché "something for everyone" is more than apt to describe the plethora of entertainment scheduled for 1975-76. Drama, speakers, music, film and happenings cover the gamut.

The Lively Arts 1975-76, available free next week around campus, gives box office information and descriptions of the hundreds of events.

Howell Memorial Theatre features classic dramas such as Tennessee Williams' Cat on a Hot Tin Roof and sponsors the innovative Studio Theatre productions.

Politician Julian Bond, feminist Germaine Greer and Star Trek creator Gene Roddenberry are three of the speakers in varied programs sponsored by the Union Program Council.

Walpurgisnacht

The program council also is bringing to campus the National Marionette Theatre, mimist Keith Berger, comedians Harrison and Tyler and second Winter Walpurgisnacht, an all-night open house of activities.

The Nebraska Union Foreign Films Series offers 15 of the finest films for their 24th season. Sheldon Film Theatre will feature documentaries, classic American

Brownville features fiddlers

You are cordially invited to attend the Fifteenth Annual National Fiddle and Country Music Contest at Brownville, Nebraska, August 29, 30 and 31, 1975. Informal attire requested.

The Brownville festival, sponsored by the Brownville Historical Society, is a gathering of fiddlers, banjo pickers and country singers demonstrating their musical ability in competition. Charles Hahn, coordinator of the festival, said the participating musicians come from throughout the Midwest with occupations as varied as their hometowns.

The weekend-long contest begins with the junior division Friday evening at eight o'clock.

Bluegrass and country music competition is divided into four general categories: singers, fiddlers, pickers, and combos.

Each division is governed by specific and binding rules to guarantee authenticity. According to the official rules, fiddlers must, "play a hoedown, a waltz, and one other not a hoedown, a waltz, i.e. rag, schottische, foxtrot, blues, clog not in hoedown tempo, or jib 6/8, 9/8 rhythm, provided a jig was not played for their hoedown." Such professional lingo perhaps is best translated on the fiddle.

Saturday afternoon the singers division will compete until six o'clock followed by a concert headlined by Lincoln's Blue Grass Crusade. Sunday morning is scheduled for pickers and the afternoon competition includes fiddlers and combos.

Finals begin at six-thirty Sunday night with the top three contenders in each category competing.

Hahn said a newly developed site has been designated for this year's gathering. The contest grounds are just north of the Brownville State Recreation Area on the river front. He also assured ample camping ground, food stands and restrooms.

The Fiddle and Country Music Contest in Brownville is gaining national fame, according to Paul Moss, master of ceremonies for the festival.

He said the event is listed in many national music magazines. He also said he knew of several participants and country music fans who attended the contest from the Carolinas, Minnesota and southern states.
