Art festival set Sunday Porno plays unproven role

The opening performance for the week-long festival of Mexican arts and culture at UNL will be a concert Sunday by Mexican pianist Vivaino Valdez, who has won critical acclaim in Europe and America.

Valdez will play works by Schumann, Franck, Schubert and Ponce at 8 p.m. in Sheldon Art Gallery Auditorium, 12th and R streets.

The festival, Jornadas Mexicannas, will feature an exhibition of Mexican arts and crafts in Sheldon Gallery through Nov. 9.

A University of California at Los Angeles clinical psychology professor Thursday told about 200 persons attending a Law-Psychology Research Conference that the United States is undergoing a major social-sexual evolution in which increased exposure to erotic materials plays an "unproved" part.

Michael J. Goldstein, a former member of the U.S. Commission on Pornography and a co-author of the book Pornography and Sexual Deviance, addressed the conference sponsored by the UNL College of Law and UNL's Department of Psychology.

Goldstein told the group that increased exposure to pornographic materials cannot be tied to deviant sexual behavior until more research is done.

"We cannot view what is happening in the area of pornography, or as I prefer to call it, erotica, without considering the broader context of changing sexual matters," he said. "The increasing accessibility of books and magazines depicting overt nudity and sexuality is not a social phenomena in isolation, but is part of a larger picture of culture change."

Goldstein said many views of the effects of erotica on attitudes and behavior are still myths and attitudes derived from erotica can be positive, as well as negative.

He said future studies on sexuality and the effects of pornography will have to study the number of times children come in contact with pornography, their reactions, the types of people who are consumers of erotica and the role it plays in their lives.

"We need to find what the potential therapeutic effects of erotica are," he said. "Many may have a positive impact."

Two students report rapes

A 19-year-old UNL student reported she was raped early Sunday morning near Andrews Hall, Campus Police Lt. Robert Edmunds said Thursday.

Edmunds said the woman told Campus Police she was walking west past Morrill Hall when she became aware that she was followed by a man wearing a nylon stocking over his head.

An earlier rape in the UNL vicinity was reported Oct. 9, according to Lincoln Police Detectives Don Buckner.

Buckner said a 22-year-old UNL student told police she was raped at knifepoint by two men at about 9:30 p.m. on Sept. 25 between 16th and 17th streets on R Street. The woman had been walking home from where she worked near campus, Buckner said.

Edmunds said Campus Police had no reason to believe the incidents were in any way related. There are no suspects in either case.

Advice for registration

Tips on classes offered

An advising session to help students register for second semester will be held Monday in the Centennial Room of the Nebraska Union. The session, sponsored by the Student/Faculty Committee of the University of Nebraska Builders, will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Ann Eiberger, chairperson of that committee, said faculty and students representing the colleges of agriculture, arts and sciences, business administration, engineering and technology, teachers and home economics will be present.

"Students will have the opportunity to ask questions about classes and college requirements and share experiences about classes and teachers with other students," she said.

She said that the committee will set up a booth at the north entrance of Nebraska Union all day Friday to take names of students wishing to be representatives. She added that students must have at least a junior standing to qualify as representatives.

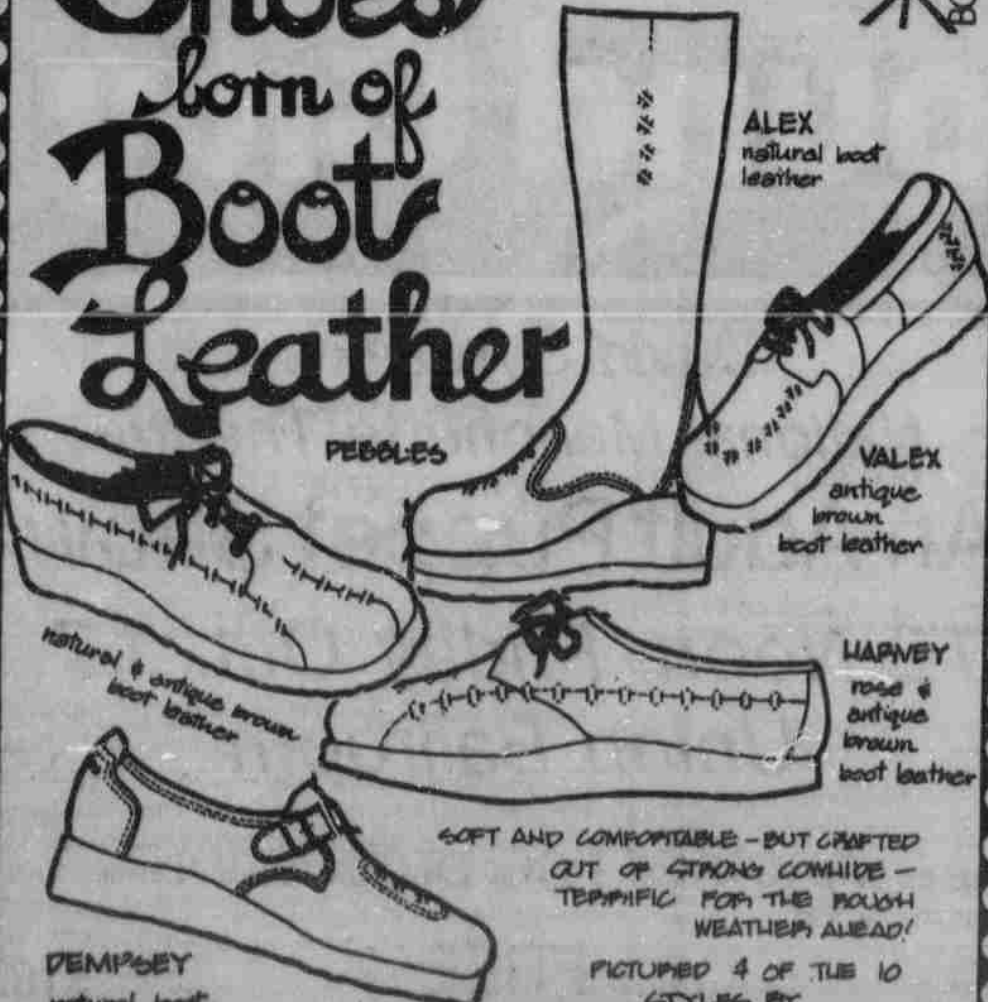

This is the first year Builders has presented an advising session, according to Eiberger.

She said if the response to the session is good they will sponsor one again next semester.

IF IT FEELS GOOD, WEAR IT

Remember when mom used to stuff you into a stiff-collared shirt, and cinch your neck with a tie? Those days are gone. And if you've grown to appreciate informal, functional clothes that feel good, stop in at Bivouac. We don't sell anything we wouldn't wear ourselves. Bivouac, for functional, feel-good clothes.
