Lincoln 'fortunate' to host Marceau

Marcel Marceau, called the world's greatest pantomimist, will perform Monday in Pershing Auditorium and Lincoln is "truly fortunate" to have him, according to impresario Dick Walters, the event's promoter.

Walters said that Marceau's one-night performance is one of few United States shows he is doing, as he is mostly touring Europe this year.

Good ticket sales are reflecting Marceau's popularity and the rarity of his appearances, Walters said.

Called the "Wordless Wonder" and the "Genius of Gesture," Marceau performs in white makeup aided only by special lighting. He chooses from his inventory of pantomimes according to the mood and reactions of each audience.

Tickets for the performance are available for $6, $7 and $10 at the Pershing box office.
