

Mellerdrammers to open new season at "Fanny's"

Theatre Inc., producers of the summer Mellerdrammers, will open its 14th season Wednesday.

The first Mellerdrammer, "No Sooner Won Than Wed," is a musical melodrama about Melody Lovesong, who has unknowingly inherited a fortune from her late father. Her evil aunt, Lucretia Moneygrabb, knows of the fortune and has come to stay with Melody, not only to gain control of her fortune but to marry off her own daughter, Gaglia.

Lucretia blackmails Melody's neighbor, Baron Wilhelm von Snipe, into helping her. But the Baron plans to marry Melody and take the fortune himself.

Meanwhile, the sheriff, who loves Melody's governess, introduces his nephew, Lambert Lamplight, to Melody, and the two fall in love. But once Lucretia and the Baron have started plotting, everything seems hopeless. Only after they foil each other's plans and Lambert and the sheriff arrive to set things right, does love triumph and evil get its just rewards.

"No Sooner Won Than Wed" cast includes Clair Rickel, Jo Rogge, Brandy Dworski, Julie Beall, Joe Miller, Stephen Kemble, Tina Scott and Karen Brammer.

Lee Schoonover is directing the play and John Wenstrand is the assistant director. Amy Thelander is the pianist for the production and Don Pederson is the Master of Ceremonies.

This season's melodramas will be at Fanny's Pink Garter, in the lower level of the Lincoln Hilton. The shows will begin at 9 p.m. and will run on Wednesday through Saturday nights. "No Sooner Won Than Wed" will be presented through June 26.

uses your college education. If not and you don't mind hard work with good pay, contact us for information regarding work in the underground mining industry in New Mexico. Income last year for good contract miners in the area was $30,000 to $40,000. Top income reported by a contract miner during 1975 was $52,000. And they didn't need a college education to earn this money. They started as laborers in the mining business and moved up to the position of miner as they learned their skills from on-site mining experience. We can start you as a laborer for $4.25 per hour union scale for a 44-hour work-week. We won't kid you—it is hard manual work. But if you have the desire and ability to learn from experience, you can become a miner, too, who at present earns a minimum of $5.20 per hour plus union benefits including Group Health Insurance, plus bonus paid for contract mining which allows you to create your own income above your hourly wage minimum. Contact us for more information if you are interested.

Education, law conference slated

Collegium III, a four-day conference will combine the education and law curriculums. The conference starts June 12 at the UNL Law College.

Dr. Raoul Kneucker, Secretary General of the Austrian Conference of Rectors, will deliver the opening address and represent Europe in a discussion on issues within the learning environment.

The Conference of Rectors is composed of the heads of all Austrian institutions of higher education.

The topic of Collegium III, jointly sponsored by UNL's Department of Education and the Law College, is "Education and the Law: Maintaining a Learning Environment within a Changing Legal Setting."

Also participating in the collegium are representatives from educational and legal professions. Roles and rights of teachers in the classroom, student rights, Nebraska's new student discipline statutes (LB503) and selection of instructional subjects are among the topics being presented.

The conference is part of UNL's summer sessions program. Students can enroll for credit, but the majority of the audience is Nebraska's public school administrators and staff, according to Sally Mainquist, Collegium logistician.

Approximately 24 to 85 persons attended various sessions during Collegium II last June.
