

New bill termed recruitment loss

A "politician's program", intended as a vote-getter because it will save tax-payers' money, is "taking away the most attractive feature of the G.I. Bill," said Larry J. Graham, state supervisor for Navy recruiting.

President Gerald Ford signed a new G.I. Bill Oct. 15 that terminates the existing education benefits for persons recruited into military service after Dec. 31, 1976.

This is a "terrific loss" in recruiting tactics, Graham said.

Persons recruited into the service after Dec. 31, 1976 will be eligible for education aid if they participate in a contributory program.

Service members would contribute $50 to $75 a month up to a total of $2,700. Those funds would be matched by the Veteran's Administration on a two-to-one basis.

Graham said persons now serving or those who enlist before Jan. 1, 1977 are eligible for the current G. I. Bill.

The education value of the current G. I. Bill for a single person is $12,000 or $270 a month, tax free for 45 months.

Married service persons receive $321 a month and those with a child receive $366 per month, Graham said. This applies to full-time students in college or a technical school.

Persons currently serving active duty or those who enlist in the military service's delayed entry program before Jan. 1, 1977 are considered eligible for the current G. I. Bill.

"We're trying to get everyone under the wire," Graham said. Persons already serving in the military will not be affected by the new G. I. Bill, he said.

ASUN directs vote against user fee

ASUN-appointed Union Advisory Board members are directed to vote against a proposed Nebraska Union user fee by a resolution adopted Wednesday night by ASUN. The senate also adopted a second resolution opposing the fee.

A $10 special use fee for groups requiring a conference setup was passed by the Union Board last Wednesday. The fee takes effect July 1, 1977.

During a brief debate, Sen. Bill Darstad said a section of the resolution reminds ASUN appointees that they are subject to removal for failure to follow a senate directive "is a breach of faith with these people."

ASUN president Bill Mueller said he will veto the resolution.

The senate should lobby committee members rather than threaten them, he said, adding that the committee has not been informed of ASUN's official stand on the fee.

"If this resolution is in the best interests of the students, then we shouldn't worry about it" (whether the appointees feel threatened,) said Sen. Joe Grant.

Mueller also said a statement in the Oct. 27 Daily Nebraskan saying the Faculty Planning Committee of the Union Advisory Board can't meet because ASUN hasn't appointed a chairman is misleading.

ASUN did appoint Marie Engelke but she resigned, he said.

Mueller also asked the senate to bring him four to six names he can submit next week to Chancellor Roy Young for the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Search Committee.

Fourth District Regent Robert Prokop told the senate the university Systems office should be a coordinating body between the three NU campuses so the three don't pull in separate directions trying to get funds from the legislature.

Prokop said he stands alone on saying that decisions affecting academics should be made on the campus rather than in the systems office.

Asked whether the cost of education is pricing some students out of college, Pro-kop replied "If your budget priorities are getting you kid through school, you'll find money to do it."

The budget keeps the regents from knowing more information than just the total figures, Prokop said.

"We don't know what's going on at the departmental level," he said.

Asked about parity, Prokop said the pros can't agree on a formula and "if you can come up with a better formula I'll listen."

Prokop also said he is generally accessible to students except during the last two weeks of his reelection campaign.

Gierhan: Student fee increase could be more than expected

A Fees Allocation Board (FAB) subcommittee on the Nebraska and East Campus Unions will study a proposed student fee increase to help finance the East Campus Union and make a recommendation to the UNL Student Affairs office, FAB chairwoman Sherry Cole said at Wednesday's FAB meeting.

Dr. Ron Gierhan, UNL acting vice chancellor for student affairs appeared at the meeting to explain why he has asked that the NU Board of Regents approve the increase at their November meeting. Student fees will be increased from $63 to $68 if the fee hike is approved, Gierhan said. He added that he could not guarantee that would be the only increase because East Union operating costs may be high enough to warrant an additional $1.50 to $2 increase next spring.

The $5 increase is needed to return money used to build the East Union to a fund surplus fund, Gierhan said. Legally, the money must be returned because the original agreement stated that any surplus fund money used must be paid back.

Gierhan said the university has 23 years left to pay off the bond issues, and the surplus fund must be replenished by that time.

However, a section of the bond agreement is being studied by the UNL Office of Business and Finance to see if it may take 35 years for repayment, rather than 23, he said.

If that is found true, he said, student fees may only have to be raised approximately $3.50.

The Nebraska Union gets $14.50 of each fee payment from each student who is enrolled in seven or more credit hours in the fall and spring semesters, and $6.50 from students taking three or more hours during summer sessions.

Gierhan said $2.50 has been transferred from the Nebraska Union's fall and spring allocation to pay for East Campus Union equipment since 1969, and that this money should pay operation costs when the East Union opens in January.
