Indian deaths

Muzaffarnagar, India—Several Moslem leaders said Wednesday that at least 50 persons and possible as many as 150 were killed when police opened fire last week on villagers protesting the government's sterilization policy. The district magistrate for this predominantly Moslem region of Uttar Pradesh State acknowledged in an interview that "a minor problem, a small scuffle" had taken place, but he denied any shots had been fired and denied anyone had been wounded or killed. In New Delhi, however, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi for the first time admitted there had been deaths in connection with the government's drive to control its population explosion by encouraging Indians with more than two children to undergo sterilization.

Anderson protests

Democratic First District House candidate Pauline Anderson says she plans to protest the editorial endorsement of Rep. Charles Thone by the Kearney-based NTV Network to the Federal Communications Commission. In a prepared release, Anderson said the endorsement was unfair because station manager James Johnson is a member of the Republican State Central Committee.

Suit dismissed

Gering—Scotts Bluff County District Court Judge Alfred Kortum Wednesday dismissed a suit filed by former Wyoming Congressional contender Al Hamburg against county commissioners and the Scotts Bluff Star-Herald. Hamburg initially had filed suit against the commissioners in an attempt to prevent the sale of his deceased father's house in Gering for back taxes. He filed a motion seeking to join the Star-Herald as a defendant after the newspaper published a story questioning the authenticity of evidence presented in the case.
