

Union basement just a bit damp

Weather report for the day—flood in the basement of the Nebraska Union.

About 12:30 p.m. Thursday, a group of Union administrators were peacefully enjoying their noon lunch in the Colonial Room of the Nebraska Union.

Moments later, Jerry Delhay, manager of the UNL Physical Plant Maintenance Dept.; Tony Warner, program and recreation manager of the Nebraska East Union; Al Bennett, director of the Nebraska Union; Daryl Swanson, assistant director of the East Union; Frank Kuhn, operations manager of the Union; and Dean Young food service manager of the East Union, all dressed in sports coats and ties, could be found with brooms, sweeping up water in the basement of the Union.

The water came from a chilled-water coil and air handling unit that froze and broke, spewing out gallons of water from the Harvest Room kitchen hallway to the University Bookstore.

Fixing the unit may cost from $250 to several thousand dollars, depending on the internal damage to the unit, Delhay said. So far, only the tubes on the chilled-water coils are known to be broken. They will be welded sometime this winter. The chilled water unit is used only for air-conditioning, Delhay said.

Hallways were blocked off to the public until they could be dried and safe again, Kuhn said.

In addition, the University Bookstore and Union Barbershop were closed until the water could be swept away.

About half a foot of water in the auditorium was pumped out. A pump from the East Campus Physical Plant had to be brought over.

UNL judging team takes top honors

UNL's Livestock Judging Team placed first at the American Royal Livestock judging show in Kansas City Saturday.

The five students from a livestock judging class, Animal Science 401, were one of 20 teams that judged 12 classes of livestock. Classes included beef, hogs, sheep and horses.

The judging team will compete Monday in the National Intercollegiate Livestock Judging Contest at the North American Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Ky.

UNL team members making the trip will be Patti Dobeah, Staplehurst; Jack Eberspacher, Beaver Crossing; Kelvin Jorgensen, Exeter; Robert Engle, Geneva; Darrell Gerdes, Wymore; and Leon Wilson, Kearney.

The students were chosen from a class of 13.

"They are the number one team in the nation right now," said Richard Warren, coach of the judging team.

Students in the judging class compete, Warren said, adding that he thinks they work for it like football players would.

They have judged 140 classes of livestock this fall, giving 77 sets of reasons for selecting one class of livestock over another. Those are like 77 two-minute speeches. A perfect score in each class is 50 points.

Goal continued

Washington—President Ford's budget director says Ford is pushing ahead with his program to achieve a balanced budget by 1979, even though that goal apparently is imperiled by Jimmy Carter's election victory. Office of Management and Budget Director James T. Lynn said Ford also would propose to Congress his plan to cut income taxes by $10 billion next year. There would be a companion proposal for an increase in Social Security taxes, so the net tax reduction would be about $7 billion, Lynn said. Lynn said these are the same tax-cuts Ford first proposed in October 1975 and which Congress rejected.

Plane saved

Washington—An F14 fighter plane that toppled into the North Atlantic from an aircraft carrier deck nearly two months ago has been brought to the surface in a partial recovery operation, the Navy announced Thursday. But the Navy, which failed in three earlier recovery attempts, said the $14 million plane will not be lifted to the deck of a West German salvage ship until it is towed to more sheltered waters in the Orkney Islands. Officials expect the plane to be little more than junk when finally recovered. But they consider recovery important to keep the fighter's sensitive equipment out of Soviet hands.

Execution

Salt Lake City—Thursday Gov. Calvin Rampton Thursday issued a stay of execution for condemned murderer Gary Mark Gilmore, delaying his execution until next

Sweet success set for Sunday

Record sales, increased participants and blanket Lincoln sales coverage promise to make this year's Honey Sunday for Retarded Citizens a "honey" of a success, said George Crosby, executive director of the Capital Association of Retarded Citizens (CARC).

Sunday marks Nebraska's 13th annual Honey Sunday. Volunteers in 42 Nebraska communities will sell honey door-to-door to raise money for programs to assist retarded citizens.

Honey Sunday originated in Nebraska, according to Crosby, but many other states have copied the idea. November is traditionally the month for Nebraska's Honey Sunday, Crosby said.

This year 1,200 persons will participate in Lincoln either representing organizations or themselves, he said. CARC coordinates the Lincoln drive, he said, and sister organizations in other communities organize the out-state drives.

Crosby said he has designated specific Lincoln areas in which small groups or individuals will sell honey. Every portion of the city will be covered, he said.

UNL is represented in the drive by 750 members from 25 fraternities and sororities, Crosby said.

"I'm very pleased with their response," he said, adding that more Greek houses are participating this year than last year.

In the past, net profit from the drive has ranged from $10,000 to $11,000, he said, but added he expects more money this year.

Funds raised in each community will be used to finance local education and recreation programs for retarded citizens, Crosby said.

Wednesday, two days after Gilmore was scheduled to die before a firing squad. The delay would allow the Utah Board of Pardons, at its next scheduled meeting on Wednesday, to consider any action in Gilmore's case. The board has the power to commute sentences or issue pardons, whereas Rampton does not, Gilmore, who says he does not want to spend a lifetime in prison, appealed to the Utah Supreme Court on Wednesday to let him die on Monday. The court agreed and vacated its earlier stay of execution.

Controls opposed

Washington—AFL-CIO President George Meany says labor leaders are willing to discuss voluntary wage-price guidelines if proposed by President-elect Jimmy Carter, but Meany remains adamantly opposed to mandatory controls. At a news conference Wednesday, the 82-year-old labor chief jokingly said he expects to play the role of "elder statesman" in the new administration.

Kappa Alpha Psi has anniversary

Nov. 15 marks the 60th anniversary of the establishment of the Eta chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity on the UNL campus.

In celebration of the anniversary, Eta chapter members had a Crimson and Cream ball Thursday.

Mark Anderson, parliamentarian, said the national fraternity was founded in Bloomington, Ind. in 1911. The fraternity was founded by blacks, and 250 undergraduate chapters of the house are active across the U.S.

On the UNL campus, Kappa Alpha Psi has 18 members, most of them black, Anderson said.

Kappa Alpha Psi always has been more independent of campus than other fraternities, Anderson said. The Eta chapter recently established a house off-campus, he added.
