

Campaign on road to goal

The $25 million fund-raising campaign by the NU Foundation is well on the way toward its goal.

Although the campaign officially will not be launched until September, two donors already have contributed $2.2 million to the foundation, according to the foundation's Vice President Ed Hirsch.

Hirsch said foundation chairman D. B. Varner has not identified the donors. According to Varner, the campaign money will help NU "achieve a new level of academic distinction" but will not replace tax dollars.

The first year of the three-year campaign will focus on identification and solicitation of major donors, or those contributing more than $100,000, Hirsch said.

The national campaign committee first will evaluate prospective donors, he said. Volunteer foundation members then will visit these people and explain the university's needs, he said.

"We want to explain things to them and let them have some input," he said.

In the second and third year, efforts will be expanded to alumni and friends living in and outside Nebraska, he said.

Donors may specify where in the university they wish their money to go, he said. Some of the money collected will be invested immediately for programs ready to be started, he said.

"Deliriously erotic."*

*This fantasy, as enchanting as it is enchanted, will fill appreciative readers with the same joy in youth amidst surging nature. A Midsummer Night's Dream still weaves.

"Seamus Cullen has created a world similar in some ways to that of Tolkien: it possesses that certain shimmer. Yet he has done Tolkien one better by making his world deliriously erotic.

"The tale is both classic and fresh, the story of a quest beginning 'once upon a time, many years hence' when our world has been reduced to atomized ashes.

"But to give more than a hint of Astra and Flondrix would be to diminish its magic." —Houston Chronicle
