

Record crowd expected at fair

Get out that two dollar bill you've been hoarding. That's the admission price to the 108th annual Nebraska State Fair starting Sept. 2 through 11 at the Lincoln fairgrounds.

Henry Brandt, state fair manager, said he expects about 625,000 people to attend the fair, almost 5,000 more than last year. Brandt said he expects more people every year.

"I hope so," he said, "or we're not doing our job." For the admission price, visitors can see Heritage Village, a tractor-pulling contest, commercial exhibits and variety shows in the open air auditorium.

Heritage Village includes a restored 19th century schoolhouse, log cabin and railroad depot.

The tractor-pulling contest will be Sept. 3 through 5 from 12:30 to 5 p.m. at the racetrack. Prizes totaling $12,000 go to the tractors that pull the greatest weight the farthest.

Farm and sewing machines, pianos and prefabricated model homes will be exhibited, along with the 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America livestock, sewing, and cooking exhibits.

There will be free entertainment daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. including dancing, singing and a special program honoring the Danes. Danish clothing and food will be displayed.

For fifty cents to a dollar, the Murphy Brothers Mile Long Midway offers rides, sideshows and games. The midway opens at 4 p.m. Thursday.

short stuff

New students and freshmen can pick up the New Student Information Packets at both Unions, all dean's offices and the Alumni House, 1520 R St. The packets are provided by the Student Alumni Board.

Phi Chi Theta officers will meet Thursday at 4 p.m. in Union 216.

Community Involvement Services needs a volunteer to be a reader for a blind law student. Some knowledge of legal terms and research is helpful. Call 472-2484 or contact Union 200.
