'Future Shock' is SCC class basis

The future: a world of vastly superior technology, one with colonies on the moon, or one of total destruction? A course now being offered by Southeast Community College will attempt to answer these questions.

Called "Future History" the course will deal with the study of alternative lifestyles possible in the future.

Developed and taught by Rick Rakerwill, it begins Sept. 21, at 7 p.m. at Lincoln East High School, 70th and A Sts. Rakerwill is an instructor at the State Penal Complex with the General Educational Development Program (GED). GED is designed to provide a high school education to Penal Complex inmates.

The idea of his "Future History" course came from reading a number of books including "Future Shock" by Alvin Toffler, "The Next 10,000 Years: a Vision of Man's Future in the Universe," by Adrian Barry and the magazine, "Futurists."

"The Next 10,000 Years" will be used as a guideline for the course, and will be taught through a series of lectures and discussions. Films and guest speakers also are in the tentative course outline.

"The course is an attempt to try to understand what the future may bring. It will cover things such as lunar colonies, flying city states and the population explosion," Rakerwill said.

"It (the course) is not something new," Rakerwill said. "Many such courses are being taught throughout the country at major universities and in other institutions," he said.

Currently, the course is tentative because of the small enrollment. Approximately 10 people need to enroll in the class by Friday for it to be taught.

Statements incorrect

The home towns of two NU Regents were reported incorrectly in Monday's Daily Nebraskan on page one.

Regent Robert Koefoot is from Grand Island and regent Robert Prokop is from Omaha.

The vote on stadium expansion also was incorrect. The vote was six for tabling the discussion, two against.

Jeannie Hellmann of the Coors Public Information Dept. Tuesday said she was misquoted in a Sept. 9 Daily Nebraskan article.

She said the National Labor Relations Board had not found Coors guilty of unfair labor practices.

Hellmann declined comment on charges from the regional labor relations board.
