

Christian students have new gathering place

The building has been in use about a year, but the sign just appeared last week for the Christian Student Center at 18th and R streets.

The house is owned by the Church of Christ, 56th and Vine streets.

Its purpose is to provide students with an awareness of where they are going, campus minister Mark Penner, said.

Penner, 25, is a 1974 UNL graduate. He took over the duties of campus pastor six weeks ago. Penner received his M.A. in theology from Harding Graduate School in Memphis, Tenn.

The center is a place where Christians can gather, as well as provide an outreach for non-Christians, he said. Programs offered are soul talks, life groups and Friday night devotionals.

Soul talks take place three nights a week. About 25 students get together and talk about God and man's relationship to him, Penner said.

The life groups are a time for informal sharing, he explained. Usually, a biblical passage is read and students discuss how the passage relates to the present.

The 7 p.m. Friday devotional usually includes singing and a bible study, he said.

The two story, white framed house is not a church, Penner emphasized, it is a student center.

"Students can become confused. The center in no way tries to act as a substitute for church life," he said.

Homecoming finalists chosen

Ten women and five men have been selected as finalists for the 1977-78 UNL Homecoming royalty.

The finalists were chosen from 29 women and 11 men interviewed. Any junior with a 2.0 average was eligible to apply.

Applicants were judged in four categories: scholastic achievement, contribution to the university community, general appearance and sports enthusiasm, according to Mike Meyer, homecoming committee co-chairman.

Homecoming royalty elections will be Tuesday, Oct. 18 in the Nebraska Union and Wednesday, Oct. 19 in the Nebraska East Union from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The candidates will be presented at a Homecoming pep rally Friday, Oct. 21 on the north plaza of the Nebraska Union. A barbecue will follow the yell-like-hell contest.

Queen finalists include: Jane Kay Hopp, Columbus; Donna Larsen, Wahoo; Kathy Kuecker, Imperial; Joyce Mahan, South Sioux City; Margaret McCandless, Lincoln; Guylyn Remmenga, Elwood; Julie Romohr, Gresham; Susie Tighe, Omaha; Susan White, Sutherland; and Michelle Wright, Des Moines.

King finalists include: Jim Dennell, Omaha; Russell Hoffbauer, David City; Brad Hoppens, Alliance; Dennis Mann, Omaha and Jay Matzke Jr., Sidney.
