

Huskers put Jayhawk game first, then bowl bids

By Jim Hunt

Visions of bowl bids may be dancing in the minds of Husker players and fans, however, this is no time for the Huskers to be complacent, head football coach Tom Osborne said.

Although bowl officials may begin extending bids Saturday, the Huskers must worry about this Saturday's foe, the University of Kansas (KU), at Memorial Stadium.

A win over the Jayhawks would virtually assure the Cornhuskers of their ninth consecutive bowl game. A Husker win over Kansas would result in a showdown between UNL and the University of Oklahoma for the Big 8 Conference title and the right to participate in the Orange Bowl in Miami.

The Huskers, 7-2, are ranked tenth in the nation in the UPI poll and twelfth in the AP poll. The Jayhawks are 2-6-1.

Osborne said, "Kansas is having a disappointing season, but Coach Moore and his players are capable of beating us or anyone else. We did not play our best against Washington State University or Iowa State University and it cost us.

Tough Kansas team

"The last thing we want to do this week is worry about Oklahoma, we need to play a fine game against a tough Kansas team."

The Jayhawks offense will be led by fullback Norris Banks.

Banks, a senior from Houston, has rushed for 1,800 yards in his career.

Banks will get help from junior halfback Max Ediger. In the Jayhawks 29-21 victory over Kansas State University last week, Ediger rushed for 101 yards on 10 carries, including a 71-yard touchdown run.

The Jayhawk defense will be led by senior defensive end Tom Dinkel. Dinkel needs five tackles to become the tenth Jayhawk to reach the 200 tackle mark. Against the Wildcats, Dinkel recorded five tackles and two assists, including three tackles behind the line and one fumble recovery.

However, linebacker Scellars Young stole the show from Dinkel in the game against the Wildcats.

Scellars Young

Young, a freshman from St. Louis had 16 tackles, 14 of those unassisted. He also intercepted a pass and returned it 22 yards.

Moore said it would be difficult for the Jayhawks to win in Lincoln.

"As usual they (UNL) have very good personnel and have good depth," Moore said. "They have particularly good people at the skilled positions.

"Their running backs as a group may be second only to Oklahoma, among the teams we have faced this year. They might be even better. I know I.M. Hipp is probably the second best running back (next to Terry Miller) we've seen this year. I don't look forward to facing him two more years."

Hipp, who has rushed for 1,090 yards this season, is the Husker top I-Back although a bruised thigh muscle kept him out of most of the Husker's win over the University of Missouri.

However, the limelight will not be on Hipp this week as 23 senior football players will make their last appearance in the friendly confines of Memorial Stadium.

Kickoff is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. The game can be heard on KRNU-FM, KFAB, KFOR, KLIN and WOW.

Combined police efforts oversee Saturday crowd

Memorial Stadium holds 76,000 persons and becomes Nebraska's third largest city on a Big Red Saturday. That city, like others, must maintain law and order.

The law enforcement officers of Lincoln, Lancaster County, UNL and the Nebraska State Patrol combine efforts in order to serve and protect the metropolis in Memorial Stadium each game day.

Captain C.W. Koch, in charge of security for the Lincoln Police Department this year, said football games are one of the biggest assignments LPD faces.

"We start to prepare for the games six weeks before the first game," he said. "We review what intersections to close and patrol and after each game we make adjustments for the next home game."

Sixty-two LPD policemen patrol the east and west stadium while county police patrol the north stadium. The State Patrol watches the south stadium and university police watch stadium gates. Koch said the remainder of the LPD force patrol the streets during the games.

"When the game is not televised, officers will show up for work at 11:15 and review their special detail," Koch said. "After all their assignments have been made, they arrive at the stadium about 11:45."

Major duties for the law enforcement officers, according to Koch, include checking for liquor violations, assisting boy scouts who usher, assisting Red Cross for cases of heart attacks or sickness and keeping the aisles and sidelines clear.

Liquor violations are common, Koch said.

"People are always drinking at the games," he said. "If there's a problem, action will be taken. But, actually, there has been excellent cooperation by the fans this year."

Koch said years ago some persons made bomb threats before the game but they have not had any threats this year.
