

Fees discussion still is continuing

The task force to study student fees will continue to discuss alternatives to the present student fees system, at its next meeting Tuesday at the NU Medical Center in Omaha.

Task Force Chairman Hans Brisch said the committee will discuss both the A and B student fees funds and alternatives such as voluntary collection of student fees.

The task force was established as a result of a NU Board of Regents request for a study of the student fees system. The task force faces a Dec. 15 deadline.

Brisch said the fees collection systems are different on all three campuses so the fee collection systems for all three campuses will be specified in the task force's guidelines, he said.

Brisch said although the deadline is drawing near, he is satisfied with the progress of the task force and is convinced that the members are working hard.
