

FROZEN FACES

Henry Brockhouse is a collector. He uses a .458 Nitro Express. It is a rifle, a big rifle. Henry collects big things, things like elephants, lions, tigers and bears.

Henry keeps his collection, which happens to be the largest private animal collection in the world, in his hardware store in Sioux Falls, S.D.

One of the few animals that Henry doesn't have in his collection is a cheeta. "I saw one once, but it was gone almost as quick as I saw it."

Henry is a big game hunter, one of a dying breed, much like many of the animals he collects.

Photos by Ted Kirk

