

Lutheran Hour talk refused by network

St. Louis-Lutheran Church officials said the NBC Radio Network has refused to accept for broadcast a Lutheran Hour program in which abortion is discussed. The program was to have been aired April 9. It featured Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, the usual commentator on the program, giving a sermon on "The Sanctity of Life."

An NBC radio spokesman confirmed that the program would not be aired because "NBC does not sell time for the presentation of views on controversial public issues," but instead covers them in news discussion and interview programs. The Lutheran Hour has been a paid program on NBC Radio since 1965.

Executions scheduled

Salt Lake City-The Utah State Prison, where convicted killer Gary Gilmore was executed by a firing squad 14 months ago, is preparing for the simultaneous firing-squad executions next week of two convicted killers. If the executions are carried out, they will be the first in the nation since Gilmore died Jan. 17, 1977. His death was the only execution in the country in nearly 10 years. Warden Samuel Smith said he is organizing volunteers for two firing squads for death row inmates William Andrews, 23 of Dallas, Texas and Dale Pierre, 25, of Brooklyn N.Y.

Oil imports decline

New York-Oil imports by the United States have begun to drop even though Congress has not yet enacted legislation designed to curb the nation's appetite for the expensive imported energy, a petroleum analyst said Tuesday. Lawrence J. Goldstein, an economist with the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation, said there were a number of reasons for the development, including conservation, more domestic drilling and a growing flow of oil from Alaska.
