CSL revises bylaws, urges O.K. of parking policy board

The Council on Student Life approved a revision of their bylaws at a meeting Thursday evening, bringing the bylaws into conformity with new CSL authority.

The council decided a month ago to consider appeals not only on the basis of procedure, but on the basis of substance and merit as well. Council chairperson Joan Wadlow explained that matters brought to attention of the council over the past two years have concerned themselves with substance and not procedure.

"There was nothing we could do," Wadlow said of the past matters.

The revised bylaws, which reflect the new role of CSL, were passed without dissent.

Associate professor of education Vern Williams was installed as a CSL member for the remainder of the semester. Williams, who also is director of the UNL Counseling Center, will sit in for associate professor of education Earl Green who was named to a vacancy on the council.

The council also voted to recommend revisions and indicate disappointment with the proposed bylaws of the Parking Advisory Committee. The council has gone on record in the past as favoring the establishment of a parking policy committee, as opposed to an advisory committee.

CSL members expressed disappointment that the parking committee's proposed bylaws did not establish that committee as a policy committee.

The council voted to return the parking bylaw changes made at the CSL meeting to the parking committee and to Chancellor Roy Young. By this action, CSL hopes to urge the chancellor to support CSL's position on the bylaws.

A committee report on what CSL should do in response to the regent resolution cutting mandatory speaker funding was postponed until the next — and final — CSL meeting of the semester.

There will be a free drop and add session during final exam week for anyone who pre-registers by April 21.

The most effective tampon is the most economical, too

Tampax tampons are made with a special, highly compressed material to give you maximum absorbency. What's more, unlike most other brands, they expand in all three directions—length, breadth and width—to conform to individual body contours. Which means there's far less chance of leakage or bypass.

And here's something else you'll like about Tampax tampons: the price. The economy-size package of 40 costs less—tampon for tampon—than any other brand.

So if you want a lot of protection at very little cost, open a package of Tampax tampons. We promise you, it's there.
