

Brown Bag Lectureships begin June 15

Brown Bag Lectureships, brief presentations by UN-L faculty members on general interest topics, will be held again this summer during the first-five week session.

The presentations, sponsored by the Union Program Council Talks and Topics Committee, begin at noon each Thursday in the Nebraska Union lounge.

The first lecture, June 15, by Bert Evans, associate professor of economics is "Looking at Corporate America through the Farmer's Eyes."

Jim French of the English department will lecture June 22 on "Folk Music: Tradition, Innovation, and the Popular Structures of History".

Keith Prichard, professor of history and philosophy of education, Hubert Schneider, mathematics professor, and Paul Olsen, director of the Center for Great Plains Studies will also give Brown Bag lectures during the session.

Research programs get support from outside sources

Five research and training programs at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln have been awarded support of nearly $265,000 from outside sources, according to UNL Research Administrator F.L. Schmehl.

The largest single grant, $139,378, comes from the National Institutes of Health's National Library of Medicine. It will support the second year of a study headed by Dr. Gary L. Jones of the College of Dentistry. The purpose of the project is to assess the effectiveness of a computer assisted instruction system for dental students.

Other grants received in May include: - $65,134 from the National Institute of Mental Health to support the clinical psychology training program at UNL. This is the program's 28th year of federal support.

- $35,000 from the U.S. Department of Energy to support the second year of a study of the charge transfer cross section determination in heavy ion-heavy ion collisions by physics professor Joseph Macek and chemistry professor Gordon A. Gallup.

- $24,504 from the National Institute of Mental Health to support for a fifth year the University of Nebraska interdisciplinary programs assisting children called UNIPROACH.

- $10,000 from the Westinghouse Foundation to support for a second year the research of electrical engineering professors Don J. Nelson and David W. Olive on modularized instruction for electrical power engineering students.
