

'The daddy o

It was an ardent Wyoming sun that beat down for a week at the 1978 Cheyenne Frontier Days. In July cowboys poured in from all over the country to the rodeo billed as "the daddy of 'em all." Over 1,000 competed and some paid entry fees as high as $200 for purses up to $12,330. "Cowboys seek the freedom of the circuit and have little financial security. They pay their own way," a rodeo official said.

Stories by
Carla Engstrom
Photos by
Bob Pearson and
Mark Billingsley