

Royals smash Yankees in second game of series

By Jeff Taebel and L. Kent Wolgamott

The Kansas City Royals got sweet revenge on the New York Yankees Wednesday as they drubbed the Bronx Bombers 10 to 4 in the second game of their best of five American League championship series.

Kansas City got one run in the first inning and proceeded to chase Yankee starter Ed Figeroua in the second as the Royals batted around, scoring four times.

The key play in the inning occurred when Fred Patek bluffed a bunt and hit a grounder to Yankee shortstop Bucky Dent, who attempted to force baserunner Clint Hurdle at third.

With his two stolen bases Wednesday, and one in the first game on Tuesday, Otis has tied the league record for stolen bases in a playoff series.

The Yankees were retired in order in the top of the ninth by Kansas City reliever, Al "The Mad Hungarian" Hrabosky, who ended the game on a note of personal revenge, by striking out Reggie Jackson, who tagged Hrabosky for a three run homer in Tuesday's game.

Moves to New York

The series will move to New York City Friday afternoon with Paul Splitorff scheduled to take the mound for Kansas City, opposing the Yankees' "Catfish" Hunter.

The Yankees qualified for the league championship series by beating the Boston Red Sox 5 to 4 in a one game intradivisional playoff Monday.

Tuesday's playoff open in Kansas City was an entirely different story, however, as the Yankees blasted the Royals 7 to 1.

The Yankees got strong pitching from rookie starter Jim Beatty, who lasted 5-1/3 innings, allowing only two hits and one run. Beatty was lifted in the sixth in favor of fireballing reliever Ken Clay, who held the Royals hitless for the remainder of the game.

The Yankees blasted loser Dennis Leonard for three runs on nine hits in the first five innings.

The first in a long parade of Kansas City relief pitchers, Steve Mingori, fared little better, as the Yankees jumped on him for five hits and three runs in his 3-2/3 innings of work.

Mingori left two men on base with two out when he left the game in the eighth, leaving Kansas City's relief ace to face the Yankees' controversial slugger, Jackson.

Hrabosky stepped off the mound to psych himself up before pitching, but it was to no avail as Jackson unloaded Hrabosky's second delivery for a three-run homer.

The Royals got their lone run in the bottom of the sixth as Hal McRae sacrificed George Brett home from third.

Dent's throw hit the sliding Hurdle and rolled into foul territory, allowing Hurdle to score.

Frank White followed with a single up the middle, driving in two more runs. A fourth run was added when White scored on Darrell Porter's single.

The Yankees made a comeback bid in the seventh, scoring two runs off winning pitcher, Larry Gura before reliever Marty Pattin came in to retire the side.

Royals respond

The Royals responded with three runs in the bottom of the seventh, on three extra-base hits, capped by 5'4" Fred Patek's two-run homer to left field off Yankee reliever Dick Tidrow.

The Yankees battled back in the top of the eighth, scoring two runs on four singles.

Kansas City again met the Yankees' challenge by adding two more runs in the bottom of the eighth, in a rally highlighted by the aggressive baserunning of Kansas City centerfielder Amos Otis.
