Need for supreme, holy ANUS prompts title of Jesus, disciples

By Smelly Shith

The need for a supreme all powerful body prompted ANUS to change the position of its president to Jesus, and its senators to disciples Wednesday night.

The new positions, according to Rocky (shut your) Trapp, followed little discussion about increasing ANUS power.

The proposal was brought about when President Ken Bambino suggested abolishing all ANUS committees, the chancellor and president of the university in order to "make ANUS the throne of the kingdom."

Out of the crowd, a lonely voice, (reportedly linked to Senator Bob Greasin) someone yelled, "Jesus Bambino!"

Bambino quickly exclaimed, "Hey, that's a better idea."

"From now on I will be called Jesus Bambino, and you will be my disciples," he said.

"We will do such holy, supreme things like redecorate the ANUS office in gold satin and sponsor an almighty worship your ANUS day," he said.

Disciple Joseph of Nigro shouted, "Golly gee, do you even think we could criticize the Daily Stopaskan?"

"Fear not," Jesus Bambino assured. "We will appoint you all to committess. But beware. We will pass legislation requiring you to adhere to all of Jesus's policies and ANUS decisions."

Disciple Holy Rollin' Nolan said, "I hate to put a damper on this, but it seems to me that we're overlooking an issue. I mean it isn't really logical to be making such plans when we haven't even discussed what the actual plans are, and we are still overlooking one very vital, important question."

At this point, Vice-Jesus Bob Cootie screamed, "Would the disciple types please give disciple Holy Nolan the courtesy of not sleeping while he has the floor. Thank you."

"As I was saying," disciple Nolan continued. "We are overlooking the issue. Do you actually think that Ken can grow a beard? I mean can you even imagine 'ol baby face with whiskers? It's preposterous."

Letter 'L' goes to hell

A Curtis, Neb. native, L was an almost-graduate of Harvard of the Plains at the time of his death. Many of the instructors at HOP praised L for his strong dedication in the field of journalism.

L spent his last year in Washington, D.C. as a press agent for Nebraska Sen. Edward Zorro. When asked to eulogize L's tragic death, Zorro replied, "I am quite elated. L will make a fine ghost writer for me."

The alphabet is one letter short today following a Congressional vote to omit the letter "L" after the death of the esteemed political journalist L. Wolgamott.

Wolgamott, affectionately known by his friends as L, was killed last Thursday from lead poisoning. L had tried to cure his lunchtime hunger by consuming a large red lead pencil used in newspaper editing. He died instantly.

ANUS's Bambino exclaims RC Cola same but different

By Dim Witt

In a special meeting last night, the Council on Student Life (CSL) voted to restructure itself, and adopted a new name to go along with its new image.

In the future, CSL will be known as the Reorganized Council on Campus or Off-campus Life Affairs (RC COLA.) After hearing several proposals by members, RC COLA voted to accept the proposal of ANUS President Ken Bambino.

Bambino's proposal will provide that RC COLA meet on alternate Thursdays, except in months that have Rs in them. In addition, RC COLA would be prohibited from taking any other action than hearing appeals. It would be limited to hearing appeals on areas of student life that do not concern academics, ANUS affairs, students under 19, graduate students, or students taking less than 15 credit hours, or more than 16.

One RC COLA member, who asked not to be identified, said, "It's fine with me. I'm going to be pretty busy next semester, anyway."

RC COLA member and Housing Director Dug Datechka said, "While I applaud and understand Ken's proposal heartily, I feel I must try to point out some of the ramifications and effects of this understandable and applaudable proposal that Ken has proposed, understandably. I've written a short fifteen-page memo discussing some finer points of this completely applaudable proposal which has been proposed to us by Ken. While not disagreeing with many of these fine finer points, many of which have been applauded and understood by me, I want to say, I mean... what?"

Bambino said that RC COLA "will be the same as CSL, only different."

"You can dribble on the sidewalk, you can dribble on my shoes and your jeans too, but please quit dribbling on my fingers."

Harvard hops on HOP

Cambridge-Harvard University today filed suit in U.S. District court charging the Harvard of the Plains Bored of Rodents with libel.

Harvard contends that Rodent James Toyland's comments that HOP would soon become the "Harvard of the Plains" was false, misleading, libellous and defamatory. The suit seeks $200 million in damages.

Toyland declined comment, as he was chewing gum at the time.

Shaah spirit

Tehran-In an effort to extend the Christmas spirit President Carter has flown dozens of specialists to aid the shah against the growing challenge to his rule, according to the shah's press secretary Eva Braun.

Some of the specialists include descendants of Herman Goering, William C. Westmoreland, Richard Milhouse Nixon and Heinrick Goebbel.

"President Carter hopes to sign a Human Rights treaty with the shah on Christmas in Tehran after he views the advanced techniques we use to deal with marxists rebels and veiled religious fanatics," Braun said.
