

jocks and supporters

Coach: hire the handicapped football players need jobs too

By Duck Baloney

Tax evasion and the Harvard of the Plains Cornshucker football team were the topics of head football coach Tom Isboring's speech to the Extra Pint Club Luncheon this week.

"Providing small gifts like automobiles and houses to individual players is an excellent deduction for those of you that use the short tax return," Isboring said to the "Zero" Street Gang.

He cited the Rolls Royce Black Shadow provided to Shucker running back, I.M. Poor, as a good example of small gifts to less fortunate players.

Truck Baldhead, former star player for the Shuckers and president of the Cornshucker Car Club, was the main contributor of autos last year and he collected a large tax return because of the deduction, according to Isboring.

The hiring line

"For those of you who use the long form, you should look into the possibility of hiring the starting line up at electricians' wages—like $12.50 an hour," he said.

The employment of this year's first string by an out-of-town business which paid time-and-a-half for overtime and mileage was the example used by Isboring.

"This year's team was employed to guard the plant from attacks by Godzilla, Rodan, Mothra, monsters from outer space and giant mutations of tiny insects," he said. "It was a job they could handle and the business will be able to deduct enough money from this year's taxes to hire a new head coach at Colorado."

After a five minute silent worship of the coach, the Extra-Pint Club toasted the coach with Chateau Nouveaux Riches wine and sang "Hail to the Chief."

Tidy Bowl foes

Isboring thanked the club for its support and then praised the upcoming Tidy Bowl opponent, the Olderhomer Laterers, of the Yale of the Plains.

"The Laterers are one of the finest teams in the country," he said.

"They have one of the most potent offenses in the country. Only Later head coach Fairy Swisher has scored more times than the Later offense.

"They have one of the finest offenses in the country and coach Swisher is one of the finest coaches in the country," Isboring said.

The Later offense is led by Wasserman Trophy winner Silly Bims. In the first meeting between the two teams, Bims mistakenly wore the wrong uniform and contributed a great deal to the Shucker victory.

"Bims is one of the finest backs in the country," Isboring said.

Blood Clott

The Later offense is run by senior quarterback, Thomas "Aunt Jemima" Clott. Clott earned his nickname by running all over the field like syrup, according to Isboring, not because of the bandana he wears.

"He's a good runner and he can throw, too," he said.

Isboring also praised the Olderhomer defense that is led by All-American George Humby and Caryl Dunt.

"Humby and Dunt are two of the finest linebackers in the country," Isboring said.

Most members of the Extra Pint Club left the luncheon during the speech because they plan to fly to Miami from their vacation homes in the Bahamas where they will be spending Christmas.

"Even I'm going to fly down there," Baldhead said.

The luncheon ended when Isboring said, "We have one of the finest Extra Pint Clubs in the country."

Photo courtesy of Parting Shots

The photograph originally scheduled to appear in this space was rejected at 11:30 p.m. by an irate member of the UNL Publications Board (our adviser agreed the photo was not kosher). The picture showed a high school cheerleader at last year's state basketball tournament who was grabbing the other's "private parts." Sorry you had to miss it.

Photo courtesy of the National Wear-a-Jockstrap Association

Junyer "Three Hands" Milhar rambles for extra yardage despite a peculiar growth from his trousers. Milhar described the defect as "just one of those things you learn to live with."

jockey shorts

The Harvard of the Plains women's hopskotch team took third place Tuesday in the first annual Harvard of the Plains Hopskotch Invitational Tournament at the Nebraska Onion. In first place was the University of Montana-Havre with 52 points. California at Atascadero with 42 points. HOP with 40 points. SUNY-Stony Brook with 16 points and University of Texas at Luckenback with 8. High scorer with a triple jump and four double jumps was the team's captain Anita Gangbang.

Any HOP students interested in being in the fourth annual HOP Crew Tournament down Salt Creek should apply to room 37, Mable Golgee Hall by 4 p.m. Saturday.

All men interested in walking-on to the 1979 football team are reminded they must have a physical from Dr. Lax Holsky, by Dec. 19.

poisonals

By Groana Bearit

University Program Council President Ron Dolly says he doesn't smoke, but he sure gets into grass skirts.

***

The Nebraska-Oklahoma rematch was staged to increase the consumption of citrus fruits in the Midwest?

***

Members of YAF have been seen running around in white robes and hoods in the wee hours of the night.

***

ANUS Vice-President Bob Cootie claims to have a deep sentimental attachment for redheads. He may be after the Daily Stopaskan editor . . .

***

Coach Slipperiano says he mistook the referee's signals during the Creighton-Nebraska game as time-out signals.

***

Regent Kermit Gagner has several framed copies of a police report detailing his verbal assault on a student police officer in his den? "It's the real thing," Gagner said.

***

The Daily Stopaskan staff is learning the art of levitation so they can drink beer without being on university property.

***

Today's modern artists capture the many moods of HOP head basketball coach Joe Slipprano. From right to left: Technical foul number two against Creighton; technical foul number one against Creighton; technical foul number three against Creighton; and Joe's "what-the-hell" attitude following the third technical.