Student charged with phone misuse

A UNL student was charged in Lancaster County Court Tuesday with fradulently obtaining telephone service. The charge was made following an investigation into several phone calls made on the WATTS line at Oldfather Hall.

Donald A. Ruleaux, 19, 8201 Selleck, has applied for the Lancaster County Pre-Trial Diversion Program. He was charged with making the phone calls to South Dakota in November.

According to UNL investigators, department heads from Oldfather complained to the Telecommunications Center in January about unauthorized phone calls on the WATTS line. Officers said 748 minutes of calls were made to South Dakota between January and December of 1978.

The calls, all made at night, were initiated in Oldfather offices and patched through from the basement so they would be billed to Bessy Hall and the greenhouse at the Life Science building.

Officers reportedly became suspicious of Ruleaux because, as a part-time custodian he had access to the offices at night, and because he is from South Dakota.
