Gardener digs
 plastic plants

Ealing, England—Daniel Keen has come up with the perfect answer for would-be gardeners who don't want to dirty their hands: a garden of plastic plants.

While others may till the soil and water their blossoms, Keen, a retired porter, only has to wash his plastic garden once a week with soap and water—and touch up the plants with a spot of paint when the colors fade.

Combat plane revived

Detroit—Joe Dulvick has spent the last two years getting his antique Grumann Avenger in to combat shape. Now he's looking for a target.

The 49-year-old president of an aluminum fabricating company says his dream was born when he watched John Wayne's squadron attack the Japanese fleet in the movie, "Flying Leathernecks."

He found his plane serving forest fire duty in California and repaired the bomb bay, installed a new machine gun turret and gave the craft a new coat of paint.

Now he wants to make a mock bombing run at a freighter on Lake Huron—any freighter, as long as it's flying a Japanese flag.

Nixon bash

San Clemente, Calif.—The entire California Angels baseball team and about 500 residents of this seaside community were invited to a Labor Day party at the home of Richard Nixon.

The bash was part of a weekend of festivities that a Nixon spokesman said would be the last the Nixon's would give here before their move to New York City.
