

UNL participating in Japanese exchange

UNL will again take part next year in two exchange programs with Nanzan University in Nagoya, Japan, and Sophia University in Tokyo. The programs will allow students to receive UNL credit while studying in Japan.

Continuing grant from the Kawasaki Motors Corporation will support travel expenses for one to three UNL students participating in either program.

Competition for the 1979-80 awards is open until January 23, 1980. Interested students can contact Pro. Peter Cheng, 541 Oldfather Hall.

Cheng said that it is not necessary for students participating to learn Japanese, as courses will be taught in English, but said a knowledge of the language would be helpful. Students will enroll in courses in Japanese art, culture, society, history, politics, economics, business and language.

Undergraduates in any college with 3.0 grade point averages are eligible and can apply for a Kawasaki travel award. Special consideration will be given to students who have had Japanese language or culture instruction or previous personal experience in Japan. Recipients of Kawasaki travel grants will be selected by a faculty committee.

The Kawasaki travel grants will cover only the cost of round trip air transportation from Lincoln to Tokyo or Nagoya. Students must pay all other expenses.

Negotiations with Nanzan University officials are under way on reciprocal tuition and room and board arrangements. If both schools agree on the proposed exchange agreement, Cheng said UNL students would pay the same costs as they would for a year here.

Tau Beta Pi conference

Tau Beta Pi, a national engineering honorary will have its annual conference at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, according to Lyle Hubl, a senior engineering student and public relations chairman for the group.

The three-day conference beginning today will attract more than 300 junior and senior engineering students from across the nation, Hubl said. The conference is intended to decide the future of Tau Beta Pi, he added.

Banquets will be held each night with guest speakers talking about the fraternity and the engineering profession. "Alumni and student members are encouraged to attend," Hubl said.
