fourth & punt

Bims reply to disClaimers begins pen pal relationship

The Daily Halfassken sports staff has learned with the aid of other scumbags that OU running back Silly Bims has written a pompous letter of reply to frustrated State Sen. Bernie disClaimers.

The letter read, 'Dear Bernie: I'm glad you want to be a penpal. Because I appeciate the suppot of ya'all fans I'll send you an autographed pixture. I also want you to do Bims also said he hoped that disClaimers would plant corn rows on his head, hoping for high yields.

Bims was elated that disClaimers had announced that he will push for LB20, which proclaims "Silly Bims Day" and will be celebrated at every NU-OU football game by fans who will be expected to shake their units, and suck oranges off the Astro Turf.

DisClaimers also expressed disappointment at the fact that the Huskers were invited to the Cotton Bowl because all cotton balls are white.

Bims added that Sen. Juan TheCampout had also written a letter but because the words were more than two syllables Bims couldn't read it.

Bims also wrote a letter to Adolph "Beer" Belly and expressed concern over LB221.

Bims said, "The drinking age shouldn't be raised to 21 because when I was 19 I drank in junior high and could buy for my buddies."

Bims said in all three letters that he was happy to be at OU and that he enjoyed the Southern hospitality of OU coach Nonfairy Blitzer.

Who cares?

Badman missed Jivis' whee-knee

By Upyer Assler

Stormin Badman, Missery fetal linebacker, said he really didn't mean to hurt Jivis Whitewine's knee.

"I meant to wreck his family life, but I missed. Darn it," Badman said. "I knew he couldn't run as fast without his "whee-knee" Badman, said, picking his teeth.

"But if I couldn't have his whee. I'm glad I got his right one," Badman said.

Whiteine had no comment, except to say, "Now I have to walk through airports. Got any Boone's Farm?" Defensive procrastinator Lancy Van Fancy, said, "Don't worry, Jivis. It isn't offense that wins football games. It's luck.' Missouri head coach Axis Powers said, "Really, I'll have to say we haven't won a lot of games, but we've put the other team in stitches."

Big Red equipment manager I.M. Bloodthirsty also let it slip that there would be several "nasty" changes in UNL football equipment if the assaults on Whitewine do not

"Yup, we've been looking at this new facemask that has razor-sharp edges. How would that grab 'em?" Bloodthirsty said, emitting a sinister chuckle.

"Or we could fix our kneepads so there'd be needles sticking out of them," Bloodthirsty added, his face wearing a crazed leer. "Or we could give our linemen poisontipped cleats or concrete handpads."

"Don't tell anybody any of this, though," Bloodthirsty said.

"And if that doesn't work, we'll find something that does," UNL Athletic Director Scratch Yerfanny said in a press release found inside a bottle.

"Nonfairy Blitzer didn't get to the top by being

Wo Fat Fox says copy desk is history!

Daily Halfassken Sports Editor A. Holes will finally graduate from college after seven years of futility.

Hulls, while he was not gavotting around the sports desk at the Halfassken was often seen cluttering up high school football fields, basketball courts, and girls lockerrooms.

The curly red-headed boy, nicknamed Rojo by many of his friends, said he spent the best years of his life driving the green bomb to and from Philley, his hometown and thriving lavender metropolis.

Hulls, by the wire, was also reported being seen in such states as iowa, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

"Yea, I did a lot of running. Especially in Missouri," he said.

Also graduating from the Daily Halfasken sports department is the one and nly (thank God) Indiana "Ensign" Hoosier.

Hoosier gave up many afternoons (escept Tuesdays which were CTOR days) grinning, cajoling and chasing female reporters around the typewriter desk

"There was one thing about Hoosier," one female shreiked. "We never did see if he had hair on top of his head," she exclaimed.

For both Hoosier and Hulls, the rest of the sports staff had one thing to say about their graduation. "HURRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRREEEEEY!"

Dome to protect Belcher from reindeer, coal trains

By Indiana "Ensign" Hoosier

The UNL Cornshucker Baseball team won't have to worry about playing "Tundra Ball" this spring.

Duck Belcher Field will have a new look with the construction of an $85 million dome to ensure the Shuckers of warm games in freezing spring weather.

Head Shucker Coach John-Boy Slanders said the new addition should help recruiting and should look nice next to UNL's new solid gold football stadium.

"We're really excited about the possibilities the new domed stadium will give us," Slanders said. "However, the dome will take away from the old atmosphere of trains going by in the outfield and football players taking up our rightfield area for practice."

The dome will be financed by the same group of Californians who paid for the astro turf and bleachers. Their interest is to see if they can get 25 California players on Slanders 25 member team.

"Most pro players are from California so I don't see what's wrong with letting them play here, besides most Nebraskans don't know anything about baseball anyway," said assistant coach plugged Toilette.

Toilette added that with the new dome the Shuckers have received several offers from pro players who want to come back to college. "Jeggie Racks'um from the Old York Honkees has shown some interest in us because he was found to be scholastically ineligible," he said. "We could use a swinger like Racks'um to help circulate the air inside of the en-

Daily Halfassken sports stories were written by even drunk and disorderly members of the sports

Ehhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh Ronco presents Indiana "Ensign" Hoosier Upyer Assier Tom Butkiss Shell Oil Company Daily Halfassken Sports Editor attempted closed structure. And we're sure to get at least three wiffs

... I mean swings from Jeggie."

Slanders said along with the new dome over their stadium the Shuckers will wear luminescent orange uniforms with a picture of the state of California on their backs.

long shorts

In other Homesteader action, Filley defeated the Little Sister's of the Poor (a convent of paraplegics) in their season opener.

Senior Jarvis Van Epren scored a career high 7 points before a whopping crowd of 12 Filleyites. DN sports editor said he was stymied with the win. .

In four-lane conference action:

I-70 Highway 2

In Munsingwear Conference action

Waist 36 Inseam 32 in a dual meet,

For the fifth consecutive year, Maximum sped past Minimum 55.40 in a Highway conference battle.

"It was a great win for us," said Maximum coach Blair Exit. "We've had trouble putting points on the sign since the energy crisis, but so have they."

"Sure we have a lot of connections with California but how else am I going to get a job with the Dodgers?" Slanders said.

Other additions to the Shucker team as a result of the new stadium include several celebrities.

Besides Racks'um who'll set, . er. . play rightfield, Al "The Mad Hungry Man" Hruabowsky was picked up on waivers and will perform his impression of Richard Nixon during home Shucker baseball games.

California Devil last baseman Rude Canoe was interested in attending UNL but with his $900,000 a year salary he said he couldn't afford the out-state tuition.

The Shuckers' probable starting bat boy will be Don Rickles who will be used by Slanders to insult both the opposing coach's wife and the umpire's nationality.

Bowl predictions

With bowl games almost decided, sports fans may note next week's interesting games and watch for major bowl developments.

On the East Coast, it's Army at Iran (nationally televised); Temple will be playing Synagogue; Sleepy Hollow will be in Wake Forest; and Monk University at the Citadel.

Brown at Pink; Colgate will be traveling to Pepsodent; Duke against Earl; Rice at Minute; and Air Force at the North Pole.

Elsewhere around the country, Holy Cross will be playing near Essexville, Alabama Agnostic against Texas Christian; Northwestern at Southeastern; Sweet Georgia at Brown State; and the Oregon Ducks are sitting idle.

UCLA will be at Notre (the Dame has been deleted due to feminist demands); Texas A&M at Rexall; Yale at Locksmith; Navy at Hoosierville; and Harvard on the Plains.