STONES OF SILENCE: Journeys in the Himalaya. George B. Schaller. The mountains of the Himalaya are a lost world of nameless valleys, of people living in the Middle Ages, of travel by yak caravan. To field biologist George Schaller, the Himalaya is all this, and yet it is more, forming as it does the habitat of the world's greatest variety of wild sheep and goats—as well as the elusive snow leopard. $15.00
AMANDA/MIRANDA. Richard Peck. Amanda—spirited, beautiful, manipulative, restless, and lustful; Miranda—awakening, dutiful, desiring, determined, and finally vengeful; these two locked in uncanny resemblance are the yin and yang, the upstairs and downstairs of a novel as romantic as the Edwardian twilight and as fated as the passengers who embark from Southampton for New York on a certain April morning in 1912. $12.95
THE MICRO MILLENNIUM. Christopher Evans. This book is about the future. Not some distant future which we can blissfully ignore, but one which is imminent. It will involve a transformation of world society at all levels, and while taking place slowly at first, will gather pace with sudden force. It's a future which is largely molded by a single, startling development in technology. The piece of technology is, of course, the computer. $10.95
