

Bus services on weekends are increased

Starting Sept. 5, students going home on week ends can take advantage of a new bus service.

Two buses, one to Omaha and one westbound on Highway 30, will depart from the Nebraska Union Friday afternoons.

The new bus service is a project of the Nebraska Union Board in cooperation with Greyhound Bus Lines.

The bus to Omaha will leave at 3:20 p.m., and the westbound bus at 3:40 p.m. according to Ed Dorsey of Greyhound Bus Lines, Lincoln.

Major drop-off points in western Nebraska are Grand Island, Kearney, Ogallala and Sidney, Dorsey said. Omaha students will be dropped off at the Greyhound Bus Depot at 18th and Farnam Streets or at 134th Old L St. at Millard.

Students returning to Lincoln from Omaha can use the Sunday evening "Student Special" which departs at 6:30 p.m. from both Omaha depots.

Dorsey said bus schedules for westbound students would be made available at the south desk in the Union.

Frank Kuhn, assistant director of union, said additional information would be posted at the south desk, either today or Thursday.

Kuhn said bus service would run on a "priority system." Students could come to the south desk during the week and fill out reservation cards, thus assuring themselves seats on the buses, which seat 43.

Kuhn said those without reservation cards could still get seats if the buses were not full.

A round-trip ticket to Omaha costs $7.70 and a one-way ticket is $4.50, Kuhn said. Rates for westbound buses will be posted.

Tickets will be sold at the south desk Fridays from 2:30 until the time the buses depart.

The bus service is open to the public and riders are responsible for their own luggage, Kuhn said.
